JUDGE TO STAND PAT ON BAN IF HE RUNS AGAIN

Crystal Lake Park To Continue Operation of Concessions Pending Decision

CLOSING CONSIDERED

Bellefontaine Probate Judge Declares Sunday No Different from Week-Days

Sunday dancing, banned at Crystal Lake Park by Probate Judge L. B. McNeal in an order issued yesterday revoking the license on which the park pavilion has operated for more than two years, will become an issue in the election of probate judge in 1929, it was intimated today by those actively opposed to the Sunday closing order.

If this becomes a reality it is welcomed by Judge McNeal who is considering running for a third term.

"If I decide to enter the campaign for a third term I will stand pat on my closing order," Judge McNeal declared. "So long as I have the authority to govern Sunday dancing it will not be permitted in Marion County."

To Decide Park's Future

Without apparent recourse to the judge's closing order officials of the Crystal Lake Park Co. will continue to operate all of the other concessions at the park for the next 10 days, at the expiration of which the future of the park will be decided at a meeting of the park board, Fred B. Scherff, manager, announced today.

With the ban on Sunday dancing, which park officials claim is the drawing attraction of this amusement center, there is a possibility that the park may be closed for good, Mr. Scherff said. This will be decided at the meeting of the board.

In the event that the park company decides to close for good it was stated by Mr. Scherff that officials are considering the advisibility of selling the equipment and platting the grounds around the lake for summer cottages, thereby utilizing the sewage system which has been installed at the park. In the event this is done, he said, lake rights will be sold with each plot of ground.

Dance Orchestra Cancelled

Orders cancelling numerous high class orchestras which had been engaged for the summer season at the park were issued late yesterday by Mr. Scherff. Among the orchestra scheduled to appear here were the Vincent Lopez, Lombardo' Royal Canadians, Charles Dornberger, Coon Sander's Original Night Hawks, Ted Weems, Egyptian Serenaders and Jack Crawford's bands.

Orchestras scheduled for the next 10 days will appear as arranged owing to the fact that the contracts could not be cancelled at this late date, Mr. Scherff said.

Whether Judge McNeal's closing order will be felt in other communities aside from Crawford County where licenses for two dance pavilions have been revoked, is a matter of speculation. At present there are seven counties in the state where dances are being operated on Sunday.

Chief among these is Logan County, one of Ohio's largest amusement centers, Indian Lake, where several large dance pavilions are operated daily throughout the summer months. In

MISSISSIPPI RIVER ON SECOND FLOOD RAMPAGE

Families at Columbus, Ky., Flee from Homes; Camps Reopen

Memphis, Tenn., June 8—The merciless Mississippi River and its tributaries today continued rising rapidly pouring millions of gallons of overflow water onto farmlands for the second time this year and spelling doom to the hopes of thousands of farmers who have in the face of disaster courageously reestablished themselves after the greatest flood in history.

Passing the flood stage today, the great river started emptying through the gaps left in levees by the first disaster and washing away crops planted since the first flood of the year receded.

Refugee camps throughout the Mississippi Valley, closed by Red Cross workers after refugees were able to return to their homes are now reopened. Mercy workers have mobilized forces and relief work is being rushed.

Columbus, Ky., is again under water, families who have returned to their homes during the past two weeks at Columbus are again leaving their dugouts to the mercy of the flood waters. A fifty-foot stage, predicted for Columbus by Friday, will [illegible] city.

DOUBTS HUSBAND'S STORY, KILLS HIM

New York, June 8—Mrs. Margaret Thompkinson, 30, of Coney Island, didn't believe her husband, George Thompkinson, also 30, a cook, when he returned home at 3:30 o'clock this morning, saying he had been working.

She accused him of "cheating." She became so furious she seized an eight-inch bread knife and plunged it into his side, severing an artery. Within five minutes he was dead.

The woman, mother of two children, was arrested. The police investigated, and found that the story the husband told his wife was true.

Boy and Girl Turned Over to Mother; Custody of Tots Determined

Frank Esterline, 30, who according to police at Monroe, Mich., stole a truck belonging to his father-in-law, B. Williams, at Monroe, and started to Marion with his two children, Eugene, 4, and Louise, 2 was picked up here late yesterday by Sheriff James A. Deal on a warrant charging grand larceny issued at Monroe.

According to word from Monroe officials Esterline staged the theft of the truck and the runaway after sending his wife to the downtown district to purchase some articles.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by his father-in-law and officials in Marion and Bucyrus notified to be on the lookout for him.

Comes to Marion

Learning at the home of his parents where he left the girl that he was being sought by police Esterline started for Marion with the boy and was approaching the city when he was taken into custody.

Mrs. Esterline and her father came to Marion when they were notified that Esterline had been apprehended. The boy, who was lodged in the county jail with his father, was turned over to the mother. The girl, likewise, was turned over to the mother by officials at Bucyrus.

Officers of the Marion County Humane Society then went into probate court here and obtained an order granting the mother custody of the two children.

Esterline was taken back to Monroe by officials of that place today.

SMOOT SAYS CONGRESS TO MEET ABOUT OCT. 1

Utah Solon Declares Coolidge Sees Necessity for Early Session

Washington, June 8—President Coolidge will call congress to meet in extra session between Oct. 1 and 15.

This was announced today by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the senate finace committee, after a long conference with the president at the White House.

"The president recognizes the necessity for an early session," said Smoot. "The date when congress will convene will be determined after it is known when the army engineers will be ready to report on flood control legislation. The date is expected to be between the first and middle of October."

Flood control and rehabilitation of the stricken areas of the south will be the chief work of congress, Smoot declared. Tax reduction, farm relief and the Smith-Vare election fight also will be considered, Smoot said.

In addition, Smoot ended, congress will have to overcome the "technical blunders caused by the failure to pass the deficiency bill at the last session."

The budget bureau is working on the government's financial program and will have it ready for submission as soon as congress returns, Smoot stated.

BEGIN LAYING NEW RAILS ON CITY CAR LINE

Work Starts on Tracks Between Wood and Center-sts on Davids-st

Laying of new rail on the city street car tracks from Wood to Center-sts on Davids-st began today.

When the work is completed, Davids-st will be equipped with all new rail. The south end of the track was repaired last fall, cold weather stopping the completion of the work at that time.

The tracks have long been in need of repair. Not only city cars pass over the rails at this point but all interurban passenger and freight cars operate over this section.

Rail was unloaded early today and men began work at once.

New Buildings

New repair buildings will be erected within the next few weeks in the north yards of the Hocking Valley Railroad, near the Garden City-pk, and in the meantime, several of the old buildings used when the repair tracks were in their former location, will be moved to the north yards.

New repair tracks are being used near the Garden City-pk at present, the old set of rails having been abandoned. The old repair tracks were located near the Union Station.

New Crossing

Big Four section men today were installing a new crossing at N. Greenwood-st. The crossing has long been in need of repair and sections of it are being fixed so that traffic may still operate while the construction work is being performed.

NEW CABINET

Made To Order Filing Case Installed By Treasurer

With a view to providing a modern system to take the place of the present method of filing county tax receipts a new 20-drawer filing cabinet has been installed in the office of County Treasurer James E. Messenger. The new case is made of oak, corresponding to the other cabinets in the office.

The equipment was made to order by prisoners at the Ohio Reformatory, Mansfield.

Installation of this new equipment, Treasher Messenger claims, will expedite the handling of work in the office.

Chamber of Commerce Gets Contract for Proposed Easterwood Trip

An entrant contract for the Dallas, Tex., to Hongkong, China flight for which a prize of $25,000 has been posted by William E. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, has been received by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

According to the rules governing the proposed flight the $25,000 award will go to the first aviator making a successful flight between these two points within a period of time not to exceed 144 hours, including time for stops. Two stops will be permitted, one at Honolulu and one at either Guam or Manila.

The flight must be made in an American made airplane with an American made motor, the rules stipulate and must be completed before midnight of Sept. 15.

Teeth That Gleam

Sweet breath — delightful taste

Here is the way to beautiful teeth—the best way science knows. Also the way to a spring-like breath, and to hygienic mouth conditions. Some 50 great experts have collaborated to combine in this one dentifrice all they know to help you.

One day of use will amaze and delight you. The glistening teeth, the sweeter breath, the nicer morning taste. You will know at once that Phillips' Dental Magnesia is the tooth paste your folks should employ.

But behind all these quick benefits lies something more important. That is magnesia. Not ordinary magnesia, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in concentrated form. Dentists have advised this for 50 years for daily use in the mouth.

Magnesia neutralizes acids, the greatest foes of teeth and gums. It penetrates where the acids form, through sugar and starch fermentation. It kills those acids instantly. The use of magnesia protects you night and day from acid attacks.

Use this new-day tooth paste to beautify the teeth, to sweeten the breath, and combat mouth germs. It will do those things in the best ways known. But, above all, it will supply the magnesia to fight acids. That is the greatest reason any dentist knows for the regular use of a tooth paste. Please learn—and now—how much this new-day application means to you and yours. You will always be glad that you know it.

Capital's Greatest Event--Welcome to Returning Lindy

Aside from Young Flier Affair Will Be Show in Itself

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 8—To be "treated like royalty" was considered the superlative of swell treatment—once.

When you'd treated anybody "like royalty," you'd gone the limit.

There wasn't any more.

But after Washington's finished treating Charlie Lindbergh—

Why tush, tush, tush.

Compared with the way the national government's slying itself out to treat that boy, the expression "treated like royalty" will sound like the equivalent of greeting a guest, "H'lo, when d'ya git in?" without, looking up from your work.

I'VE seen the capital receive the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of Sweden and the Crown Prince of Japan in the last two or three years. They're royalty.

Or, if you insist on actual crowned heads—the King of Belguim and the Queen of Roumania.

None of those receptions were a patch on what's framed up for Lindy.

I've seen a couple of presidential inaugurations and Washington wasn't lit up in anticipation—or realization—of either, or both 'em put together, to hold a candle to what it is now.

Why, there was a World Series here in 1924 and another in 1925 and neither of them threw this burg into the state of excitement it's in over Charlie's coming.

TO supply details of the preparations they're making for Lindy, to describe the decorations they're fixing up for him, to summarize the program and to give the various lines of march is no part of my job. Numberless miles of telegraph wires have tickety-tick-ticked all this information to every corner of this far land and countless loud speakers squawked it into the air.

But maybe it isn't so generally known that the number of arrangement committees and sub-committees had reached 47 ten days in advance of Lindbergh's coming and more were being formed all the time.

John Hays Hammond, as chairman of the citizens or co-ordinating committe, has the charming responsibility of seeing that these outfits' plans don't clash, and you can take it from me that Secretary Hoover, in the midst of superintending the Mississippi river floods, had an easy time of it compared with that old mining engineer's.

ASIDE from Lindy, the thing will be a show in itself.

The railroads are standing by for the biggest crowd o fegaursionists they ever handled.

The hotels are booked up to their bathrooms and corridors.

Folks with windows looking on Dupont Circle, where President Coolidge will receive Charlie at the temporary White House, are figuring on getting moderately rich, renting 'em out.

Every official "big bug" in Washington—generals, admirals, cabinet members, everybody else, from the president on down—will be on display.

There'll be troops and bluejackets on the ground and airplanes overhead.

It'll be the greatest jamboree this town ever saw.

New York may outdo Washington in numbers, but it can't equal it in concentrated notabilities.

Coolidge, Kellogg, Mellon, two Davises, Sargent, New, Work, Wilbur, Jardine, Hoover, Summerall, MacNider, Lejeune, Eberle!—just a few samples. That's the kind of people we'll have here.

MARION AND CRAWFORD COUNTY BOARDS FIX DATE

Hearing on Joint Improvement of County Line Road Scheduled June 24

Hearing of objections to the improvement and claims for damages on the proposed reconstruction of a joint county road between the old mud pike and the Marion-Bucyrus-rd will be held at the Marion County commissioners' office at 1 o'clock June 24, it was decided at a joint meeting of Marion and Crawford County commissioners yesterday afternoon in Bucyrus.

County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens is the engineer in charge of plans for the improvement which includes a three and one-half-mile stretch on the line between the two counties.

HENRY AND KURTS ARE TAKEN TO MANSFIELD

Longfellow, Alleged Farm Robbery Band Leader, Remains in County Jail

James Henry and John Kurts, two members of the Marion County farm robbery band, sentenced Monday to indeterminate terms in Mansfield Reformatory were taken to Mansfield today to begin serving their sentences. Both were recently convicted of grand larceny in connection with the theft of 25 hogs from the farm of Otis Johnson near Agosta the night of May 4.

William "Shorty" Longfellow, alleged leader and "fence" of the farm robbery band, who was given a sentence of not less than five years and not more than seven years in the Ohio Penitentiary after being convicted of receiving and concealing stolen property, will remain in Marion County Jail until action is taken by the court of appeals, Lima, on the petition in error filed by his attorneys when motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge George B. Scofield. A motion to suspend the sentence handed down by Judge Scofield until the case is settled in the Lima court was filed along with the petition in error.

How to Get Pavement That Can't Wear Out and can't run up costly bills

There must be, first a good base—foundation. Then must come a cushion of sand. On top of this the toughest surface to be found—one that can protect the base from all traffic and weather conditions.

Paving brick, being vitrified, is the toughest, densest wearing surface man makes. This surface can't soften under heat; can't undergo chemical change. It can't be damaged by absorbing water and freezing. Moreover, it is built with shock-absorbing resilience. Workmen are sure of a good job in laying this surface—since brick comes from the factory in finished form, tested, ready to put down.

These are reasons why brick is not only the highest-value pavement to be had—but the cheapest of all, as well!

"1926 A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build ever-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 328 South Michigan Boulevard, Chicago.

Lindbergh Remained a Fighter

The Independents, originally discouraged, became unpopular. Some of them lived it down. "A radical," as one old timer expressed it in recalling Lindbergh's career, "frequently meellows with successive terms in congress and sometimes develops into quite an ultra conservative, but Lindbergh never did."

Congress presently passed under Democratic control. Then war broke out.

As it progressed, Lindbergh protested that "commercialization" of the struggle was breeding belligerent sentiment in this country. With the strengthening of the tendency the harder he fought it.

Retired Prior to War

Retiring from congress in 1917 he missed the vote on America's declaration of hostilities, though he made no secret of the fact that he would have been against it.

One of his last acts in Washington was to attempt impeachment proceedings against the Federal Reserve Board.

His subsequent campaign for governor of Minnesota was watched with the keenest interest in Washington, for it was evident that he was running strongly and pro-war sentiment in Congress was violently exercised at the thought of victory by a candidate who was by that time openly denounced as a Pacifist.

All for Father Now

Conservative element on Capitol Hill has undergone a remarkable change in the last three weeks. Today the late Congressman Lindbergh is Lindy's father. No, maybe he wasn't so popular, but he was one of the most respected men in Washington for his inflexible honesty and viking courage.

That's the conservative version.

But there is another story. Ask one of the Liberal group—and he'll say Congressman Lindbergh was a crusader, a man who fought for what he believed was right and never weighed the consequences, and at the same time the most lovable who ever served in Congress. That's the alternative account.

A speech maker? No, they all agree. Lindbergh talked little but sawed more wood than any champion in insurgent history.

MANY RARE BIRLS, ANIMALS IN CIRCUS

Students of zoology will find the big double menagerie with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus of more than usual interest this year, as during the winter months thousands and thousands of dollars were spent in purchasing rare birds, beasts and reptiles, and making the large zoo complete in every detail. Most all animals mentioned in natural history, with possible omission of some amphibians or tropical animals whose peculiarities do not permit them to exist out of their native elements, will be found in the big double menagerie.

When Hagenbeck Wallace come on Monday, June 13, one of the most interesting exhibits in the menagerie will be Barney II. This quadrumana possesses the intelligence of a four and one-half year old child and performs a series of comical stunts and feats.

General Motors
The Chevrolet Motor Company is a unit of the General Motors Corporation—the greatest automotive organization in the world. The vast resources and engineering facilities of this organization are largely responsible for Chevrolet's matchless value.

Research Laboratories
A technical staff, representing every science related to the design and construction of motor vehicles, is continually testing and experimenting in the General Motors research laboratories—in an endeavor to improve the quality of Chevrolet cars.

Proving Ground
The General Motors Proving Ground, comprising a tract of 1145 acres, is located at Milford, Michigan — forty miles northwest of Detroit. Fleets of Chevrolet cars are under constant test at the Proving Ground—driven day and night under every conceivable condition of road and load.

12 Great Factories
Chevrolet cars are manufactured in 12 great factories, located at strategic shipping points throughout the country. Every factory is equipped with the most modern machinery known to engineering science—performing every manufacturing operation with maximum efficiency.

Volume Production
Chevrolet is building cars at the rate of 4,500 a day! Because of this enormous production, Chevrolet is able to purchase materials in tremendous quantities—at the lowest prices available. And these savings are passed on to the purchasers of Chevrolet cars in the form of increased quality and value.

wo Government Investigations Revolving About Levine

:R IN BAD CARRYING TO BERLIN

acker Had No Author- r Action, Postmas- ter New Says

on, June 8—Federal investi- ving Charles A. Levine, who Clarence D. Chamberlin on flight to Berlin, proceeded from two sources, the post- tment and the department of officials are investigating rrying a packet of air mail York to Germany, while cials are continuing their erine's contractual relations ar department. There have ions of irregularities in some salvage contracts with the ment, out of which he is have made enormous profits, sserting that his agents were g the salvage case. Attorney gent had nothing to say to-er General New, however, Levine was unauthorized to nail to Germany, and Post- l Sealy, at Hempstead, L. I., tal regulations in carrying ancellation stamp to Mitchel cancel the stamps. These expected to have a collectors' 000, being the first air mail ross the Atlantic.

In Difficulties

as been in frequent diffi- the postoffice department, y a bid Levine's company for the New York-Chicago ntract months ago. Although his bid was the lowest submitted, Postmaster General New threw it out and awarded the contract to Col. Paul Henderson's company, after Levine was said to have approached Henderson with a proposition to sell the contract. While not actionable under the law, New considered this to be "sharp practcie" and refused to accept Levine's bid. The fact that Levine's relations with the war department were also under investigation by the department of justice figured in the rejection.

Whether Levine's connivance with Postmaster Sealy to carry the first air mail to Europe is actionable under the new law is, too, a question. According to postal authorities, there were more than 200 letters in the packet, mostly addressed to Levine himself at various European capitals. The philatelic value of the stamps is incalculable, but postal officials said Levine would have little difficulty in obtaining high prices for them from collectors in years to come.

Homage for Chamberlin

Levine's actions, not only in this instance, but his relations with the war department, formed the subject of a cabinet discussion yesterday. Although cabinet members were disinclined to discuss the matter, it was evident that the discussion related to what recognition, if any the government will give Levine for his part in the Berlin flight. It is no secret that Levine is not popular among officials here.

Chamberlin, who piloted the Bellanca plane, is in no way involved in these matters. Officials from President Coolidge down have nothing but praise for his daring and skill in negotiating the epochal flight, and he will receive all the homage an admiring government can bestow. Levine's status, however, is another matter.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT REVIVAL SERVICE

Rev. E. W. Petticord Speaks on "Leading of Spirit" at Oakland Church

Growing interest and increased attendance is reported manifested in the revival services in progress at Oakland Evangelical Church since last Sunday. Rev. E. W. Petticord, Columbus, who heads the evangelistic party, spoke last night on the subject, "The Leading of the Spirit," from Revelations 1, 1-3. James E. Campbell, songleader and Clyde Kelly, pianist, sang as a duet, "I Have an Understanding with the King." Rev. C. L. Allen, pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church, led in prayer.

During the lunch hour yesterday, the party held a short meeting at the Osgood shops and a large and appreciative audience of shopmen enjoyed the songs and short message given by Reverend Petticord.

Cottage prayer meetings will be held in connection with the revival, at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, in the following homes. George Simmons, 573 Mound-st, Lloyd C. Mosher, 912 Uncapher, Thomas Dilworth, 895 Davids, Mrs. Saul Hecker Westwood-dr, D. H. Phelps, 585 Henry-st, M. Carter, 793 Congress-st.

The Woman's Missionary Society will hold its regular monthly meeting at the church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and revival services will continue there each night except Saturday for the next three weeks.

of doing things. As they term it in flying he's an out and out 'solo' worker.

Mayor Austin and Mr. Martin who are Lindbergh's age, 25, recalled many incidents that occurred during their high school days.

Bashful Youth

"Charlie was a sort of bashful youth and was known about Little Falls as a sort of mechanical genius," Mayor Grimes said. "He was not what you would call conspicuous. We all knew he had plenty of courage as evidenced from his conduct when trouble threatened.

"Although he was a likeable and sociable sort in school he lived in a world of his own. While other boys were playing he was tinkering with machinery.

"When Lindy took to motorcycle riding it was taken by his friends as a matter of course. A similar attitude existed among his friends when he decided to become and airplane pilot.

"When Little Falls got the word that one of its citizens was going to attempt the New York to Paris flight and that the attempt was to be made alone none who had ever known Lindy needed to ask who that daring soul might be.

Reading of Career

Little Falls, according to the four men, has been reading the adventure story of the years under the date lines ranging from San Diego, Calif., to Le Bourget Field, France, and probably has wondered less about it than any other town in the world.

Every word, every action that has been reported back to his home town from afar—his courage, his bashfulness, his nonchalance and his resourcefulness—all of these were done "like Lindbergh."

The four men were guests of Walter Hane, 365 E. Center-st, while here.

TROY MEET IS PROVED SOURCE OF SMALLPOX

Seven Cases Reported Following Church of Nazarene Convention

BULLETIN

Investigation was under way here today to determine the source of two cases of smallpox, suffered by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Erwin, 378 Rose-av, according to Dr. J. Weiser, city health commissioner.

A number of Marion people are said to have attended the Nazarene convention at Troy and this fact will be considered in investigation of the two cases here. Mr. and Mrs. Erwin declare they have not been out of the city recently, Dr. Weiser said.

Troy, June 8—Opening of a public vaccination station here was ordered today by Health Commissioner Porter J. Crawford, as an aftermath of a threatened smallpox outbreak here, following the reporting of five cases of the disease contracted from exposure at a recent Nazarene Church convention here.

Dr. Crawford, while adopting a conservative view of the situation, emphasized that there is a possibility of widespread infection unless proper precautionary measures are promptly taken to check the disease.

Troy, June 8—With four known smallpox cases here already isolated and 70 other persons of Miami County known to have been exposed to the malady, county and state health authorities today were attempting to warn 900 Ohio residents that they had probably been exposed to the disease here two weeks ago at a district convention of the Church of the Nazarene.

Health Commissioner Porter J. Crawford, today declared that Coshocton, Xenia, Dayton and Springfield had reported smallpox infections which had been reported traced to the Nazarene convention held here.

One of the cases reported to Commission Crawford Tuesday, he said, had been under treatment here for influenza.

The Rev. Millard Fitch, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, is assisting authorities in their attempt to warn all of the 900 persons in attendance here to have themselves immediately inoculated.

PASTOR AND WIFE STRICKEN WITH SMALLPOX

Coshocton, June 8—Two cases of smallpox here have been traced to Troy where a district convention of the Church of the Nazarene was held two weeks ago, according to Health Commissioner D. M. Criswell, Coshocton County. The smallpox patients are the Rev. A. H. Harry, pastor of the Nazarene Church here, and his wife.

Forty-five others known to have been exposed to the disease germ have been vaccinated, it was reported.

XENIA MINISTER IS ISOLATED

Xenia, O., June 8—Rev. F. H. Landgrabe, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, has been isolated here, it was reported by health authorities today, as a smallpox sufferer. Rev. Landgrabe, according to authorities, was exposed to the disease while attending a district convention of the Church of the Nazarene, Troy, about two weeks ago.

BANQUET AND PROGRAM HOUR CLOSE RALLY

Epworth Junior Room Transformed into Garden for Missionary Affair

The Junior room of Epworth M. E. Church was transformed into a delightful garden arranging an attractive setting for the banquet and closing program hour of the first annual rally of the Young People's Department, Delaware District, Woman's Home Missionary Society, last night. Covers were placed for 161 members and guests, at green tables decorated with bowls of flowers, colorful butterflies and pink nut cups. The room was lighted with Japanese lanterns arranged with butterflies and baskets of peonies and other garden bloom, combined with rose trees and garden furniture completed the decorative note. A rose arbor centered the room beneath which tables were arranged for the guest speakers. The rally opened yesterday afternoon with music and devotionals and a business session.

An orchestra, composed of Misses Mildred Ruhl, Florence Foreman, Florence McColly, Mary Mills and Dorothy Cressap entertained for the banquet and during the program last night. Miss Margaret Adams, secretary of Young People's Work, presided. Miss Della Larson, Marion, gave an inspiring talk on "Roses, Membership" in which she likened the members to roses in the Home Mission work. "Lilies, Evangelism," was the topic discussed by Miss LaVerne West of LaRue, in which she urged the members to devote their time and talents to work in the mission field, and Miss Mary Josephine Stafford Marion gave some beautiful illustrations of what tithing means in her talk on "Jonquils, Stewardship."

Mrs. Barford Speaks

Mrs. W. M. Barford, of Fremont West Ohio Conference Secretary of Young People's Work, chose for her subject, "Wild Flowers," in which she presented the need of educating and helping through the Woman's Home Missionary Society. Miss Luella Northrup, Prospect, contributed two beautiful contralto solos and a quartet composed of Misses Goldna Bolander Helen Holland, Mrs. Leona Long and Mrs. Doris Koons entertained with two vocal numbers. A violin number, "To a Wild Rose," MacDowell, and a song "Follow the Gleam," concluded the rally.

Members of the Mecker Queen Esther Circle presented a pageant, "Life of Christ," at the afternoon session. During the business session a committee composed of Miss Ann Schoenlaub, Marion, Miss Ruth Harmon, Prospect, and Miss Mildred Philbreck, Upper Sandusky, announced the next rally to be held in Prospect in June. Announcement was made of the Lakeside School of Missions at Lakeside July 31 to Aug 5. Officers announced for the year are Miss Luella Northrup, Prospect, secretary and Miss Iucah Artz, Agosta, treasurer. Ninety members responded to roll call at the afternoon session.

Reports Given

Reports from the various districts were followed by talks by the following officers: Mrs. A. L. Gast, Prospect President; Mrs. T. J. Mills, Marion, corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. M. Keller Prospect treasurer. Miss Margaret Adams, Young People's secretary outlined the work for the coming year after which a round table discussion was held in which interesting methods were presented for promoting membership and meeting pledges.

Members of Circle No. 2, Epworth Aid Society, of which Mrs. C. R. Emery is chairman, were in charge of the banquet and furniture and other decorations were contributed through the courtesy of the Uhler-Phillips Co. and the H. Schaffner Co.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT
SUNDAY DANCING

REPORTED BOMBARDMENT TO BE INVESTIGATED

Cleveland, June 8—Federal authorities today will investigate the reported bombardment late Tuesday of Fairport Harbor, alleged to have been perpetrated by J. A. Sadlowsky, of the Cleveland coast guard.

According to reports to government officals here Sadlowsky took possession of a rum chaser anchored in the harbor and fired about 100 pounds of ammunition from a rifle, forcing approximately 200 persons along the harbor front to flee for their lives. He was just ready to open fire with a machine gun when captured by Sheriff Rasmussen and deputies, the report stated.

PROFIT-SHARING PLAN IS ADOPTED BY U. S. STEEL

New York, June 8—The United States Steel Corporation announced today that under profit-sharing plan, common stock of the corporation to the amount of [illegible] to employes of [illegible] terms will [illegible] than travel to a neighboring county here Sunday dancing was allowed.

Now, that Sunday dancing in Marion County has been prohibited there are no counties surrounding or near Crawford that permit public dances on Sunday and the judge feels that his refusal to permit dancing in Crawford County will be effective.

Leaves Seven Counties

The action of Crawford and Marion counties in placing the ban on Sunday dance halls will leave only seven counties in the state where dance halls may remain open the judge stated. The seven are Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Erie, Logan, Lucas and Licking.

Announcement of the revoking order took the managers of local amusement parks with surprise. Ralph Jolly, manager of Seccaium Park, between Galion and Bucyrus declared that he had no information about Judge Sheets' action. If his license is revoked the only thing he could do would be to abide by the order he continued.

Seccaium Park will feel the effect of Judge Sheets' order more than any other dance hall in the county although six permits for Sunday dancing have been issued in the county according to the judge.

Judge Sheets' order will not affect Sugar Grove Lake according to the statement of L. W. Paste, manager, as Sunday dancing was never held at the resort.

LOGAN COUNTY JUDGE WON'T CLOSE PAVILIONS

Should action of Probate Judges L. R. McNeal, Marion County, and George W. Sheets, Crawford County, in revoking permits of dance hall operators for Sunday operation incite conservative groups throughout the state to closing campaigns Judge S. J. Southard, Logan County, seat of one of the state's largest amusement centers, is ready to stand his ground in defense of the Sunday public dance he told a Star reporter in a telephone message.

Judge Southard by virtue of his office as probate judge has jurisdiction over the several dance halls located at various places in the Indian Lake district and is well acquainted with the various phases of the Sunday dance issue. He was apprised of the action of Judges McNeal and Sheets by telephone yesterday afternoon and upon request outlined the plan by which he governs Logan County halls.

Primary among his considerations of the dance question, Judge Southard explained, is that dancing and the operation of a dance hall has no variation from a moral standpoint on Sundays from other days. With this opinion as a controlling motive, he permits all dance hall operators to run their business places on all days they choose providing they observe regulations stipulated in their permits.

Fixes Time Schedules

Fixing of time schedules so that dance halls will not attract persons from morning church services stands most important in regulations affecting Sunday operations, according to Judge Southard. In issuing permits to operators, he stated, stipulations were made placing Saturday and Sunday night closing hours at 11:45 o'clock. On other nights, the closing hour is 12 o'clock midnight. Operators are not permitted to start their dances on Sundays before 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Adequate policing of dance hall properties is required in the Logan County permits. Uniformed men on duty while dances are in operation works for protection to both operator and patron of the establishment, Judge Southard pointed out. With the thought of lending the halls proper dignity and discouraging the growth of alleged immoral conditions, Judge Southard has stipulated that during the operation of a dance the floor must be supervised by at least one floor walker and at least one chaperone or hostess.

Judge Southard said that the revoking of a permit in his opinion must be prompted by cause and that in the course of his administration he should choose such a course he will revoke the license in full and close the hall in question from future operations.

Judge Southard will not be surprised, he stated, if he is approached with a plea to close Logan County halls on Sundays as a move in line with the action here. He said that he is prepared to defend his administration in this regard unless just cause is shown.

CHIEFS WATCH PUMPERS WORK AT CONVENTION

Fire Chief McFarland Has Charge of Demonstration at Mansfield

Fire Chief James W. McFarland, of the local department, who has taken an active part at the convention of fire chiefs being held at Mansfield this week, was in charge of the pumping demonstration given by pumpers of ten manufacturers, held this afternoon as today's feature of the convention.

The exhibition was given in North Park and was witnessed by nearly 200 fire chiefs from all sections of the state. Tuesday night the chieftains attended a complimentary dinner given at the Elks club by the Lumberman's Mutual Insurance company of that city. Following a short program at the dinner, the chiefs marched to the Ritz theater where they were the guests of Harry E. Roberts, manager, at a showing of "The Fire Brigade."

The main convention banquet will be held tonight with Edwin G. Slough, as toastmaster. The program includes an address of welcome by Mayor J. Earl Ports and responses by Chief D. K. Moser, of Warren and Captain J. J. Conway, of Cincinnati.

Should Chief McFarland change his mind and become a candidate for the office of president of the association, his election would be assured, according to visitors at the convention, and the convention next year would be held in this city. Captain E. H. Fisher and Firemen James J. Ryan and B. E. Sullivan of the central station spent yesterday at the convention while the local department today was represented by Captain O. A. Sifritt and Firemen C. W. Stafford of the central station and O. C. Stafford, captain at No. 2. J. B. Nagel, chief mechanic, attended the convention both yesterday and today.

MRS. ANNA E. RINNERT DIES OF COMPLICATIONS

Windsor-st Resident Is Claimed After Long Illness

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Rinnert, 76, wife of Louis J. Rinnert, died at 8:10 o'clock this morning at her home, 482 Windsor-st. She was said to have been suffering from complications of diseases for the past six months.

Mrs. Rinnert was bor nin Nashville, Tenn., July 25, 1850 and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogt, originally of Germany. She was married in Nashville July 1, 1869 to Louis J. Rinnert and had made her home in Marion for the past 18 and one-half years.

Surviving are her husband, and nine children, Mrs. Fred Weidig, Cincinnati; Mrs. Ben McNeal and William Rinnert of Prospect, and Mrs. Gail Van Gordon, Mrs. Moses Schrote, and Ed. Henry, Louis and Albert Rinnert of this city. A daughter preceded her in death five years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at her late home with Rev. C. H. S. Hunziker officiating. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

SENTENCED BY JUDGE ON DELINQUENCY CHARGE

Wheels of Justice Move Rapidly in Steve Cinceri Case

The wheels of justice moved rapidly today when Steve Cinceri, a 20-year-old Italian living on W. Fairgrounds-st, who was arrested at 7:15 last night, was sentenced to six months in the workhouse at Dayton by Judge L. S. McNeal in juvenile court after he had been found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Cinceri was arrested on an affidavit filed by Mrs. R. F. McArthur, mother of the girl. According to the story told by the girl, who is 17 years of age, she and Cinceri left this city [illegible] day night on a freight train bound [illegible] Dayton, where they remained for [illegible] days. Leaving the car, she said, she [illegible] Galion and Cinceri returned to [illegible] city.

Hardly the talk of a good sportsman. Honor to Chamberlin. Let us forget Levine.

American Mechanical Genius.

So much attention has been given to Lindberg and Chamberlin and their flights that Americans may possibly pass over other matters in connection with their flights which are subjects for congratulation.

It will be recalled that both of these aviators placed chief reliance on their motors, and Lindbergh gave much credit for the precision of his flight to the induction compass he carried.

Readers will probably be interested in knowing that the induction compass is the invention of Dr. Paul Heyl and Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, both of whom are scientists in the government bureau of standards.

The motors of the two aeroplanes, are very similar and both, contrary to the claims made in London that they are the development of British mechanical genius, are wholly American. Both of them, like that used by Byrd in his flight to the North pole and back, are air-cooled motors, and the United States navy is responsible for the development of the air-cooled motor for aeronautic purposes. Other nations have clung to water-cooled motors very largely. The United States navy has been faithful to the air-cooled, and now has motors in operation of two and a half times the power of the 200 horsepower motors used by the transatlantic fliers.

The two flights speak volumes for the worth of American motors and American mechanical genius generally as well as for American skill, courage and daring.

Storm Water Drainage.

It must be apparent to our citizenship—at least, it should be—that the storm water drainage problem which has confronted our city for a number of years is steadily growing more pressing.

A little reflection will force the conclusion that overflowed streets and water-soaked basements and cellars have been far more frequent of late than in the past. Within the last thirty days, or such a matter, there have twice been flooded streets, basements and cellars in many parts of the city, in some sections which had not previously experienced anything of the kind since the big flood which was general throughout the greater part of the state.

Admittedly the present spring has been an unusually wet one. We have had exceptionally heavy rainfalls, which were in large part responsible for the conditions of recent date we have noted. But the wet season was not wholly responsible. There was, and is, another factor which steadily tends to make the storm water drainage problem more pronounced.

Progress is never without its complications, and it is the progress which we have made and are making as a city which complicates the storm water problem.

Forty years ago, such rains as the last two heavy rains we have experienced would not have bothered us seriously. Our streets were unpaved, our ditches were open. We had fewer buildings. Our residences were far from so numerous and, generally, they were further apart. Some of our buildings had gutters; some did not. Such houses as had gutters had downspouts which ran to cisterns or to boards which ran the storm water away from homes. When there was a downpour the earth between homes and streets and alleys absorbed part of the rainfall. The streets and alleys absorbed some. The open ditches carried off the water. Streets might be flooded, often were, but the cases where water backed up into basements and cellars were exceptional.

Today there is a connection between roof gutters and sewers in most modern properties which rushes the water straight from roofs to the storm water drains. There is no dissipation through the soil of lots. The streets are paved—at least, miles of them are paved—which does not permit them to absorb any water. On the other hand, the smoothness of them adds to the speed with which the storm water rushes into the catch basins. The result is that the storm water mains which were adequate to carry the load thirty—possibly twenty years ago—are totally inadequate. The consequence is that the water backs up and streets, basements and cellars are flooded. Every street paved, every building erected with direct connection with storm water drains, adds to the problem, which is thus growing daily.

It is hard to think of any one thing which tends to hurt a city so greatly as lack of sewerage and lack of storm water drainage. In the case of the latter, it is not only the direct damage done, but the indirect damage done by the ill-repute it gives the city. Such things are noised about. People do not care to move to a city where cellars are subject to flooded conditions. The owner of a home devoid of a cellar may not think he is interested, but he is. The more a city grows the more valuable his property becomes. It isn't going to grow markedly if conditions therein are unfriendly to growth. The prospective newcomer wants good water, good sewerage, good drainage, good schools. Unless he can find these in a city, his inclination is to go elsewhere.

The storm water drainage question has been up to popular vote a couple of times, we believe, in recent years and met with defeat. In common justice to our property-owners and renters suffering from flooded conditions it should be brought up again. In common justice to every local property-owner, as we have pointed out, it should be brought up again and the proposition should carry, and we can think of no better time for the submission of an adequate storm water drainage proposal than at the coming election.

Safeguarding against storm water flood damage is a course which, in justice to themselves, the citizens of Marion can no longer profitably avoid.

Would it do to refer to our marines as arbiters of our foreign policy?

There's one advantage in running for a second elective term; by the time a man has finished one, he's usually enough of a politician to dodge that moth-eaten old one about becoming a candidate at "the earnest solicitation of many friends."

A London cable says that Osbert Sewell, British novelist, told reporters over there that there is more culture in the United States than in England. About the only explanation we can offer, in the light of the utterances of Britishers returning home in the past, is that he has been misquoted.

We'll have to admit that Jane Addams is consistent in holding that the way to save Chicago's youth is to disarm the police up there. Jane has long held that the only way to save the world is to disband our army and loan the other nations of the world more funds to increase theirs.

Here Speaks the Sportsman.

Having radioed his hearty congratulations to Chamberlin, Monday, following the receipt of the news on the Memphis of the landing of the Columbia at Kottbus, Captain Lindbergh said to newspaper correspondents aboard the cruiser:

"It was a very fine piece of work and another feather in the cap of aviators. Feats such as the Columbia's all have a tendency to aid in the development of aviation throughout the world."

Later the same day Lindbergh, in discussing Chamberlin's great flight with Rear Admiral Burrage, spoke in praise of the Bellanca, saying:

"I always felt that the Bellanca could make such a flight. I am glad it succeeded."

Just the attitude the world anticipated on the part of Lindbergh. The world expected him to look upon the feat of Chamberlin like the true aviation enthusiast he is. It depended upon him to speak like a sportsman.

Life-Giving Rays of God's Sun.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the gratifying tendencies of the present day is the increasing popularity of country life and outdoor living.

My duties call me to many parts of the country. Long rides on the railroad are common experiences. Many of these health articles are written on the cars. This one, for instance, is being penciled on the train between Washington and New York.

This morning I have seen literally hundreds of small cottages in the process of building. Some are in the pines. Others are on the banks of streams. Many are on the hilltops.

Wherever they are located they are in the country, away from the haunts of men. Thoreau and the other outdoor philosophers of the Concord school would rejoice in the present trend.

The automobile is responsible for this sensible change in the habits of our people. The country dwellers do not feel secluded, detached and lonesome. The movies are within a few minutes, the church is easily reached, and business is not interfered with by impossible distances.

Just now we passed a hamlet named "Arbutus." Does not that word bring to mind the crowded woods where that plant grows and the delicious perfume of its hidden blossoms? Haven't you traveled miles and dug away the leaves with your fingers, searching for the modest flowers?

Everybody needs the out-of-door life. The sunshine, the dews, the mists, the refreshing breezes, the spring of the turf, the rustle of the leaves, the singing of the birds, the sparkle of the stars—all these stimulate the heart and make life worth living. The blood is enriched, the bodily functions are improved and the reserve of health is promoted by this manner of living.

If you are in the habit of living out-of-doors, keep doing so. If you have not done so, begin now. This is the season when everybody should be in the open.

In every magazine and catalogue advertising building materials are pages devoted to modern window glass capable of admitting the "ultra rays" of light. That is good, but far better than this is the living of such a life that you have hours of direct exposure to the sun's ultra rays and those reflected from the summer sky and the season's clouds.

You can store up a reserve of strength, vigor and health by giving yourself hours of life in the open every day of the year. But in the summer, certainly, there should be more hours of that sort than are spent in the inside period of your daily duties.

"Gassing" concrete to give it added lightness is a novel idea reported from Sweden. While the concrete, a mixture of sand, gravel and cement, is still soft, gas is introduced into the mixture. This has the same effect on the concrete as yeast has on bread, filling it with small holes. The concrete produced is just as strong as the ordinary product, but much lighter.

Editorial Comment.

NUNGESSER AND COLI, NOW.

Photography on about as large a scale as had ever been attempted had successful results in the mapping of a long stretch of the Missouri river from the upper air. The lens, however, will record its impressions of even a larger territory, as a part of a systematic search for Nungesser and Coli, the lost French aviators. A plane which left New York Friday for Harbor Grace will engage in the tremendous task of photographing 22,000 square miles of Newfoundland, more than half the 42,734-mile area of that great island.

This does not mean, of course, that 22,000 square miles of film will be used. A considerable stretch of Newfoundland topography on a reduced scale will be represented in a single foot of film. Nevertheless, the total of film required will be tremendous, if the search is extended, and it may form the most gigantic task in photography on record. F. S. Cotton, a Newfoundland air-mail pilot and seal hunter, and two assistants will man the plane.

As it sweeps back and forth over territorial strips of suitable width, one man will keep watch with binoculars, but the visibility over forests and depressions will be low and greater dependence is placed on the unfailing eye of the camera, operated continuously. With descents of the plane and the taking on of a new load of film, the exposed film will be developed and examined with magnifying glasses for the slightest signs of the missing fliers.

Some reasons exist for believing that Nungesser and Coli reached Newfoundland. The thought that these maimed survivors of the war, further shattered in an involuntary landing, may now be lying in some out-of-the-way place in that rugged country, helpless and unable to reach shelter, is a very appealing one to the generous of the United States. We can make no better return for the reception given our own brilliant aviator at Paris than to organize effort for rescuing France's two lost sons, if living, or to end suspense over the uncertainty of their fate. Therefore, private funds in ample amounts have been provided for rescue work.

Nungesser and Coli left Paris May 8. If their ill-fated expedition ended in the ocean, relics of it probably will be recovered only by chance. If it ended on land and the two survived there, they may still be alive, subsisting frugally on the scanty food they carried. Death, however, seems so probable at this date that their rescue with only broken limbs would be a climax as dramatic as our flier's unexpected arrival in Paris, and the honors paid the two in the country would rival any paid in Europe during the past thirteen days.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HOPE FOR THE APPALACHIAN CHESTNUT.

Amid the general devastation of the chestnut tree blight that has been sweeping southward along the Appalachians for some years past, a tree has been found here and there which seems to possess some kind of natural immunity against the disease, just as about two per cent. of us are supposed to be naturally immune to smallpox, and as a still larger proportion of children are found to be naturally immune to diphtheria.

A forestry expert has recently asserted that this power of resistance to the chestnut blight is now perceptibly greater than it was in the early years of the disease. Evidence of this is found in the young shoots springing up from the roots of trees that have been killed down to the ground by the blight in years past. Many vigorous shoots are found, five and six years old, unattacked by the disease. Some shoots that have been attacked have not been killed.

The question might possibly be raised whether these results are due to the development of a positive immunity in the trees, or whether the disease itself is gradually losing its virulence, as is known to happen in the realm of human diseases. If there can be shown to be a development of a genuine immunity, science would seem to have before it the possibility of discovering some method by which this immunity could be artificially imparted. There are some very interesting fields of investigation open to the student of plant biology, with a good prospect of large benefits to humanity as a stimulus to research. The health of the plants and trees so important to human welfare is next to our own health in importance.—Columbus Dispatch.

Poems That Live.

LOVE TRIUMPHANT.

Helen's lips are drifting dust;
Ilion is consumed with rust;
All the galleons of Greece
Drink the ocean's dreamless peace;
Lost was Solomon's purple show
Restless centuries ago;
Stately empires wax and wane—
Babylon, Barbary, and Spain—
Only one thing, undefaced,
Lasts, though all the worlds lie waste
And the heavens are overturned.
Dear, how long ago we learned!

There's a sight that blinds the sun,
Sound that lives when sounds are done,
Music that rebukes the birds,
Language lovelier than words,
Hue and scent that shame the rose,
Wine no earthly vineyard knows,
Silence stiller than the shore
Swept by Charon's stealthy oar,
Ocean more divinely free
Than Pacific's boundless sea,—
Ye who love have learned it true.
Dear, how long ago we knew!

More of the Latter Kind.

Many men talk in their sleep, but there are many more who sleep in their talk.—Louisville Times.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

A California judge urges corporal punishment for robbery and other crimes. He says criminals fear bodily hurts more than they do prisons. The judge will do well to think twice about this. Men are not made better, they are not recreated or improved by physical punishment. They are brutalized by it. They are made worse. And punishment which is not designed to have a beneficial effect on the victim is no good. Prisons should be hard schools. They should teach while they confine. To establish the whipping post would be to step back into barbarism.

Man's greatest weapon in dealing with the world is character. If you can make people feel that you are dependable, you will have put the strongest possible asset into your equipment for success. Every boy and girl has ideals. Bringing ideals to the surface means forming character. That is done by practice. Next to character the greatest asset man can have in his drive for success is charm. You do not acquire charm unless you like people and make them feel that you like them. Charm can make you. It can hold you in high places. The absence of it can keep you down forever.

Somebody is getting excited because in a recent printing of "The Star Spangled Banner" in an eastern city part of the verses were missing. As far as teaching any considerable number of Americans to sing it with any effect is converned, all the verses might be eliminated. It is all very fine for Mr. Sousa and his band or for any capable orchestra. But a general American patriotic movement for the singing of something that folks can sing would be a serious and thoughtful undertaking.

There is a man by the name of Timothy Collins in Norwalk, Connecticut, who has driven an automobile for twenty-five years and has never had an accident. He was a chauffeur in New York for nineteen years. That shows what can be done. The next time you climb into your car, if you have one, think of Timothy Collins. Why not have a Timothy Collins club? Those who have never had an accident can be charter members.—Copyright, 1927.

Dinner Stories.

A chorus girl introduced her young man to another chorus girl with the result that he transferred his affections. The aggrieved girl gave her rival a piece of her mind in a letter which read:

"You heartless creature—you know very well we have been going about together for six months. Wait till I lay my hands on you, you good-for-nothing bleached blonde. I'll scratch out your eyes, pull out your hair, your teeth and throw acid on you. Yours truly, C——— N———.

"P. S.—Please excuse pencil."

"Do I understand," said the irate parent, "that there is some idiotic affair between you and that impecunious young Dedbroke?"

"Not very much, Papa," replied his daughter sweetly, "only you."

It was after two in the morning and the girl had yawned several times. It was also the first time he had called.

"May I come to see you again?" he asked tenderly.

"I don't think that will be possible," she replied.

"Why not?" he queried in sudden alarm.

"I don't think you are going to give yourself the chance," she told him, stifling another yawn.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, June 8—Manhattan is not intentionally snooty about the rest of the world. But the city is so big itself that many of its people become geographically indifferent. In a store this morning a clerk asked me if Havana wasn't in Texas.

It is not an exaggeration that there are those who believe the residents of San Francisco are sitting out in front of their log cabins gnawing frozen buffalo meat wondering who is president. Any place west of Jersey City is camping out.

There is the story of a night club fracas when a nicotine stained habitue whispered to the proprietor: "That bird is liable to get rough and pull a gun—he's a westerner from Buffalo." Most native New Yorkers know more about Europe than America.

Either they have crossed the ocean or their parents have. They get an idea of European hand kissing and rather unconsciously they acquire the impression that men from the hinterland are those with the manners of stable men trying to be John Drews.

This attitude frequently creeps into theatrical criticism when a play hit comes from Chicago. It will be called "a typical Chicago play" as though meant to be derisive. As a matter of fact one sees more cotton umbrellas, gum chewing and celluloid collars in New York than in Indianapolis.

There is a section of New York unable to realize that more than fifty per cent. of the men in evening clothes and the ladies flowering in chic Parisian frocks at the theater, in the cafes and supper clubs are people from out of town.

Underneath all this distorted smugness there is a heartening side. New Yorkers warm to western people and western manners. They love Will Rogers and his breezy suggestion of the pampas. Also Tom Mix. Almost any one who can ride a horse to them is a god.

Down at Atlantic City the other day I asked one of those tatterdemalion chair pushers to speed up. "Can't do it boss. They'll nab me for speedin'," he replied. And he pointed to a confrere who had just spent a session in goal for hitting the high spots. There's the life for those of us approaching gouty isolation—joy riding in a wheel chair.

The shuffling, rachitic chair pushers are outcasts blown to the seaside from all corners of the world. The seem to find a place to hide for, like waiters, no one ever sees a chair pusher's face. Many are those who have seen far better days and have drifted to this rather lowly calling through drink or drugs.

I am told that next season there is to be a great revival of stars of a few years ago or even further back. They are needed. Theater-goers have grown a little tired of that stardom encompased in a lustrous leg and a prop smile. Many of the old timers—such as David Warfield, John Drew, William Gillette, Joe Weber and Lew Fields—are difficult to sign on the dotted line. They have all the money they need and know all about fame. William Collier is an actor seen too little hereabouts. Also George M. Cohan. They, too, are well-heeled.

Cohan is seldom seen in the Broadway haunts there days. When he comes to town he has a hideaway in the Hotel Astor, but rarely visits the cafes. Most of his time is spent in the country. He more than any other actor has heard the din of the Broadway tomtoms. But the roar apparently no longer interests him. His hair today is almost snow white and yet it seems but yesterday his enthusiastic press clip sheet was heralding, "Boys, I'm on my first million!"—Copyright, 1927.

WAYNE B. WHEELER.

Wayne Bidwell Wheeler was born at Brookfield, Ohio, November 10, 1869. He began his temperance work while still in college. Now he is general counsel and legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America. Wheeler has been closely identified with temperance legislation in all of the states and in congress and has successfully prosecuted more than 2,000 saloon cases, some of them in the supreme court of the United States. He is an officer and director of a number of temperance and law organizations.

Mr. Wheeler explains the purpose of the $600,000 Anti-Saloon league fund thus:

"Wet senators and politicians who get nervous when any of the drys suggest raising money were never excited by the millions of dollars raised and spent by the wets.

"The announcement that the Anti-Saloon league would make an appeal for a moderate sum to inform the people about wet candidates stirs them to righteous wrath. No one ever suggested raising $600,000 to defeat wet candidates for president.

"The executive committee decided to make a special appeal for $300,000 a year more for the next two years for all the work of the league—educational, law enforcement, total abstinence, including $50,000 to be raised by the campaign committee for the two years for political action to be raised and expended as provided in the federal election law. It will be used against wet Democrats and wet Republicans alike."

Bucyrus Retail Merchants Association Protests City Two-Hour Parking Law

Petition Presented to Solons at Regular Session; Progress of Gas Rate Fight Is Reviewed; Traffic, Light Question Up for Discussion

Bucyrus, June 8—A petition of the Bucyrus Retail Merchants Association protesting against the two-hour parking ordinance passed at the last session of council was presented to the city solons in session last night.

After a discussion upon the merits of the ordinance and particularly upon its alleged unfairness to merchants on the square and to farmers and the practical difficulty of enforcing the ordinance, council voted to receive the petition.

Councilman George Ryan opposed the ordinance and suggested that at least parts of it be unenforced. He maintained that the two-hour parking limit for two blocks on both North and South Sandusky-st was discrimnatory and resulted in the square being filled with autos of employes in business houses. He declared further that it worked an unfair hardship upon farmers who could not complete their shopping in two hours. Defense of the ordinance was made by Chief of Police Trautman and Mayor Schuler, who have received but two complaints.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the sale of the Ford touring car used by the police department.

Resolution 1314 passed under suspension of rules as an emergency measure asks the county auditor to place any funds available for the city at its disposal.

To Install Sewer

Resolution 1315 providing for the improvement of Spring-st by the installation of a sewer was passed under suspension of rules.

Ordinance 1319 authorizing the sale of a note for $1,800 to meet the city's share of the expense of improving Sheckler-st was passed under suspension of rules.

Upon the request of Councilman Peter Metzer, City Solicitor J. W. Miller discussed the situation in the fight against the Logan Gas Co. rate schedule. Miller declared that the cities involved are waiting upon action of the Elyria City Council upon a proposition of the Gas Company for 55 cent gas at present and 60 cent gas in two years. Miller declared that it would be a severe break in the morale of the cities if Elyria accepts the offer.

Councilman Ryan suggested a tour of neighboring cities to study traffic lights. Mayor Schuler asked if Bucyrus might not be accused of trying to "put on the dog" and "jump out of her class" by use of traffic lights. He suggested instead the use of police at needed hours.

Council adjourned until next Tuesday when a special session will be held.

ANNUAL PIONEER PICNIC PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Upper Sandusky D. A. R. Chapter Cooperating with Association

Upper Sandusky, June 8—Everything is in readiness for the annual Pioneer picnic of Wyandot county which will be held in Stoll's grove, east of Crawford, Thursday.

This year the local chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution called the William Crawford chapter are cooperating with the Pioneer Picnic Association in the raising of a marker to stand at the foot of the monument designating the spot where Col. William Crawford was burned to the stake by Indians. The event will mark the fiftieth year since the monument was placed there by members of the Pioneer picnic organization.

To Unveil Marker

Mrs. W. A. Blicke, Regent of the Hannah Crawford Chapter, of the D. A. R. from Bucyrus will be present and unveil the marker. This ceremony will begin at 1:30 o'clock immediately following the dinner. Virginia Bahl, this city, will sound taps and the Wyandot Band under the direction of R. T. Thew will furnish music during the ceremony.

On the program during the afternoon is Clyde Wentling, president of the association, Crawford, who will make the address in behalf of the Picnic Association. A. G. McQuate will lead the Community singing.

C. B. Galbreath, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society, will give the principal address of the day. Galbreath has a thorough knowledge of the history of Wyandot county and will be well worth hearing.

Among those planning to attend from the distance are members of the Hannah Crawford Chapter of the D. A. R. and Sons of the American Revolution from Bucyrus, Marion's S. A. R. and the Historical associations of Marion and Bucyrus and also members of the Capt. Hendricks chapter of the Marion D. A. A.

WEDS IN FLORIDA

Mrs. M. E. Weimer Receives Word of Sister's Marriage

Upper Sandusky, June 8—Mrs. M. E. Weimer, this city, has received word of the marriage of her sister, Miss Lucille Scott, formerly of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Scott, Coronada Beach, Florida, to George Chalker, which occurred at New Smyrna, Fla., on April 8. During her residence here the bride attended the local high school and on last Friday was graduated from the New Smyrna High school, New Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalker will reside at Coronada Beach.

SEE SON GRADUATE

Marysville, June 8—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Poling of Marysville returned this week from Huntington, W. Va., where they witnessed the graduation of their son, Luther who is also a graduate of the local high school. He was honor student in the graduating class and was leader on the Marshall College football and basketball teams. He has accepted a position as coach in the Spencer, W. Va., high school.

LARGE BARN IS DESTROYED IN NIGHT BLAZE

Four Horses, Sedan, Hogs Lost in Fire Near Marseilles

Marseilles, June 8—Fire of unknown origin last night completely destroyed a large barn and contents on the Philip Cramp farm four miles south of here.

The loss from the fire is expected to amount to over $15,000. The barn was partially covered by insurance.

Four horses, eight head of hogs, a new Overland sedan, a quantity of hay, and $50 worth of soy beans were included in the contents lost in the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Cramp were at their home situated directly across the road from the barn, but were not aware of the blaze until it had gained such strength that it was completely beyond control. Miss Genevieve Benz, of three miles south of here, was on her way home at about 11 o'clock and after sighting the blazing barn she notified the ramp home by telephone.

An alarm was spread throughout the neighborhood and a large crowd gathered at the scene, too late, however for effective work. The barn roof caved just as Mr. and Mrs Cramp first saw the fire. Because of the barn's location, some distance apart from the other farm buildings, there was no danger of the fire spreading.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HOLD REGULAR MEET

Sale and Purchase of Automobiles Approved; Joint Session Planned

Mt. Gilead, June 8—The commissioners, in their regular meeting, sold the Buick touring car formerly used as a county car and bought a new Chevrolet sedan for future work. They approved the sheep claim for the last quarter.

The Morrow County Commissioners will meet with the Marion County Commissioners June 21 at 2:00 o'clock to discuss a proposed road.

They awarded the sale of paint for the County Home barn to John Snyder of Edison who placed a bid of $3.20 per gallon for paint and $1 per gallon for oil.

Mt. Gilead, June 8—The Eastern Star Lodge entertained Masons and their wives at a dance in the Masonic Lodge rooms.

The following program was given by local talent before the dance: piano elections, Janet Wieland; readings, Dorothy Wagner; drill work by the lodge team of the Fredericktown Masonic Lodge.

F. B. Levering, district lecturer, was the distinguished guest. Refreshments were served during the dance. The music for the dance was furnished by Allen's six piece orchestra.

Next Thursday night will be the regular meeting night when several initiations will be held.

GALION WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Samantha Thompson, 86, Claimed After Long Illness

Galion, June 8—Mrs. Samantha Thompson, 86, died at the home of her son, William S. Thompson, 126 N. Columbus-st, late Monday night, following an illness of several weeks. Infirmities of old age caused her death.

Mrs. Thompson was formerly Samantha Ideman and was a daughter of Rev. Ideman. She was born in Marion County in 1842 and spent the most of her life there, coming to Galion to make her home with her son, four years ago.

Two sons, J. N. Thompson, Marion; William S. Thompson, Galion; a sister, Mrs. Clarissa Kell, and a brother, George Ideman, both of Salem, Ill., are the only survivors.

MARION MAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO CHARGES

Upper Sandusky, June 8— Charles Rogers, Marion, pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of stealing 11 lambs from the farm of Charles Wiest, south of this city, when arraigned before Justice of Peace Jay Marguerat, yesterday afternoon. The case was continued until Rogers' lawyer arrives.

Rogers stated that he worked on the night switching crew of the Erie yards at Marion.

MRS. PATTERSON HOSTESS TO PRISCILLA CLUB

Carey, June 8—Mrs. Wesley Patterson delightfully entertained the members of the Priscilla Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on E. South-st. The time was spent socially and with needlework and dinner was served by the hostess. Mrs. Glenn Hart of Findlay, Mrs. George Shuman and Mrs. L. L. Patterson were guests. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. B. Ogg.

MARYSVILLE YOUTH IS HONORED AT UNIVERSITY

Marysville, June 8—Ernest Emmert son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Emmert, of this city a graduate of Marysville High school, has been honored at Capital University, at Columbus by being elected as president of the University Men's Club, an organization recently formed by the male students of the school for the purpose of discharging functions in interest of general student welfare. He is a sophomore and a member of the varsity football squad.

WOMAN FINED

Marysville, June 8—Mrs. Mary Davis, of Dublin, who was arrested here Saturday on a charge of intoxication appeared before Mayor A. F. Robinson, yesterday to answer to the charge against her. She was fined $50 and costs.

Durbin Saw First Magic at Circus Show

KENTON, June 8—Augustus F. Hartz, now a venerable resident of Cleveland, the late Angelo Lewis of London, England, who wrote about magic under the nom-de-plume of "Prof. Hoffman," and the old Maskelyne and Cooke's Egyptian hall in London, were the three great inspirations which prompted W. W. Durbin, Kenton manufacturer and president of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, to master the Black Art as a hobby, and to construct "Ameci's Egyptian Hall" at his home on Reuhost.

Not only does "Colonel Bill" stand as one of the leaders in the brotherhood but he has gained fame in the field of magic. When he was 10, he carried water for the elephant and got into a circus where he saw his first magician. Two years later, in 1878, Prof. Gus Hartz played for one week in the old Dickson's Opera hall here and Mr. Durbin was among his nightly audiences.

Read Hoffman's Book

"It is unnecessary to say that it set me afire and I was crazy about magic," says Mr. Durbin. About this time he came into possession of Hoffman's book on "Modern Magic," which he read through from cover to cover many times. From that moment he was committed to what the convention calls the "Magic Arts."

When Durbin started practicing law he took the first $4 he earned, "bummed" a pass from a railroad friend, and went to Chicago to see Herman. Afterward, he served in the United States Treasury department under Grover Cleveland and became chairman of the state Democratic executive committee and is at present head of the Scioto Sign Co., but he never forgot the thrill of mystifying folk.

Built Theater

THAT he might better pursue his hobby, Durbin in 1895 constructed Egyptian Hall, a modern theater seating 100, in the back yard of his home.

The hall of magic is the mecca this week for visiting magi. On its walls is a collection of more than 3,000 photographs of great and near great magicians, illusionists, mind readers, spirit mediums and ventriloquists, gathered over a period of 50 years.

HOLD SERVICES

Mrs. Susan Smith, 73, Galion, Dies at Detroit

Galion, June 8—Funeral services for Mrs. Susan Smith, 73, whose death occurred at Detroit, Mich., Sunday, were held from the Snyder funeral home this afternoon. Although the deceased has made her home in Detroit for the past several years, since the death of her husband, Levi B. Smith, she was practically a lifelong resident of this community. Before her marriage she was Susan Rhinehart and was well known in the city.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Charles Ruch, Mrs. J. L. Holtz, Detroit; Mrs H. A. Burwell, Galion; two sons, H. L. Smith, Detroit, and R. F. Smith, Galion, and three sisters, Mrs. C. H. Cretzer, Oakland, Cal., Mrs. W. F. Smith, Galion, and Mrs. Vernon Wirick, Marion.

WYANDOT COUNTY W. C. T. U. HOLDS SUNDAY SERVICES

Carey, June 8 The County W. C. T. U. held their monthly Sunday services at the County Home Sunday. Mrs Lloyd Yohe of Carey conducted the devotionals followed by singing several hymns. Reid Sutter of Nevada rendered two vocal selections. The Loyal Temperance Legion of Carey sang a selection. It was Flower Mission Day.

After the meeting ice cream and cake were served. Those in attendance from Carey were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yohe and family, Mrs. A. J. King and daughter, Martha, Roy Montague and children, James and William Gibbs Karl Kraut and son Harold, Richard Ewing, Alma and Carolyn Sopher and Marjorie Ingle.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN BY BAR ASSOCIATION

Bucyrus, June 8 -- Attorney C. F. Schaber of Bucyrus, W. J. Geer of Galion, and B. J. Cattey of Crestline will represent the Crawford County Bar Association at the summer bar association conference at Cedar Point July 6, 7 and 8. The selection was made at the meeting of the bar association this week.

LICENSE TO WED

Mt. Gilead, June 8—A marriage license was granted to Paul E. Brown, 23, a rubber worker who lives near Mt. Gilead, and Rachel Estella Vaughan 21, of Gilead Twp. Miss Vaughan was secretary to P. E. Arnold, Supt. of the public schools.

GALION ROTARY COMMITTEES ARE SELECTED

Special Groups To Handle Year's Work Under President's Guidance

Galion, June 8 Rotary committees for the coming year have been appointed by the club's president, W. V. Gosborn and the special groups will begin work at once to make the year an active and beneficial one for the organization.

Frank C Thomas, Charles F Jones and James E. Casey have been placed on the membership committee and Glenn W. Sanderlin, Walter C Kanable and Charles A Patterson will have charge of classification. A study of business methods and club management will be in the hands of Arthur T Flannery, John D Stotler and Carl Boehm while Earl B. Padgett, Matthew B. Hoekstra, and Matthew W Quay will have charge of a course "Education in Rotary."

To Arrange Program

The year's program will be arranged by James E Casey, Charles F Tracht and Charles F Boyd and a fellowship committee consisting of John G Wisterman, Carl Shaw and Adam J. Paul will strive to maintain the splendid spirit of the organization, that although one of the city's newer orders is now recognized as influential and valuable as a civic enterprise.

Public affairs that may concern the club will be in charge of Herman H. Hartman, Louis Kreiter and Bert E. Place. Much of the charity and benevolent work will be taken care of by the committee on Crippled Children of which John Kissell, Frank McBerty and Clarence S. Kirk are members.

Interest has been taken to a great extent in the boys of the city and Rotarians have been active in assisting the Boy Scout movement so that a group on boys work is being organized by Gilbert Steifel, A. M. Mehaney and George J. Philp.

Representative men have been placed on all committees so that members of the organization are looking forward to a successful year.

The regular meetings are held each Monday night at the dinner hour and for the next meeting Rev. Fr M. Moriarity president of the Wooster Rotary Club has been secured as the principal speaker.

MAKES HAY

First Alfalfa Harvest Reported in Crawford County

Bucyrus, June 8 — While many farmers are busy planting corn, Ralph Kibler of near Reeseville, has the distinction of harvesting the first crop of hay reported here this year.

Kibler hauled in several loads of fine alfalfa hay yesterday to open the hay making season in Crawford County. The hay was of a fine quality and heavy due to the wet spring. Though the grass was mowed last Friday poor curing weather held up the work of taking up the hay until yesterday.

That Kibler practices the adage "make hay while the sun shines" is shown by the fact that he alternates his farm work with operating the pumping station of the Pennsylvania railroad near Crestline.

STEEL PLANTS AT BUCYRUS TO SELL THURSDAY

Hadfield-Penfield Properties To Be Offered to Highest Bidder

Bucyrus, June 8—The large plants of the Hadfield Penfield Steel Co. go on sale at the Crawford County courthouse steps Thursday to satisfy a claim of the United States government for money, totalling in the millions, loaned the company for war-time expansion.

Judge A. G. Newcomb, Cleveland, will be in charge of the sale, it is understood. W. A. Riddel, receiver for the company, announced last night that the sale will be held on scheduled time and that the plants will go to the highest bidder. No favoritism will be shown to anyone.

The sale will in all probability be the largest one made in Crawford County since the sale of what is now the Pennsylvania Short Line railroad many years ago. The plants at Bucyrus and Willoughby will both be sold. The sale was ordered several months ago by Federal Judge Westenhaver of Cleveland. By his orders the city of Bucyrus is to secure $4,000 as a settlement on its loans of $10,000 to the company.

The Hadfield-Penfield plants are operating extensively at the present time, using one shift of men three nights a week. Improvements in the nature of laying of tracks for an electric siding connecting the plants with the interurban and railway lines are being planned.

BUCYRUS COUPLE ARE WED AT PARSONAGE

Bucyrus, June 8—Miss Lois Katherine Kissling and Lloyd A. Zoller were married at the First M. E. church Sunday morning by Rev. J. W. Dowds. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Kissling of N. Lane-st, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Zoller, 501 Woodlawn-av. After a trip to Cleveland and New York the couple will be at home on Lane-st.

500 TAKE PART IN BIG PARADE THROUGH CITY

Banquet and First "Arabian Night" Scheduled for Tonight

Kenton, July 8—Kenton is all agog today with legerdemain.

With more than 500 magi from all over the world registered, the second annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians got under way here today and is to continue throughout Thursday and Friday.

Mayor H. C. Herren greeted the visitors at the opening business session this morning, the response being delivered by Hon. J. J. Lybarger, Harrisburg, Pa. An address by "Colonel Bill" Durbin, Kenton manufacturer and Brotherhood president, and the appointment of committees, completed the morning session.

Hundreds See Parade

While hundreds of spectators lined the streets, the colorful convention parade, extending for more than one mile and including magi in gala array, local groups and two bands, moved through the uptown business district. Elaborate costumes, gaily decorated floats, guardsmen, lodgemen in their regalia, and countless other features combined to make the parade one of the greatest in the city's history.

A note of sadness entered into the convention proceedings this afternoon when the Brotherhood paused to pay tribute to deceased members in public memorial services at the Grand Theatre. Rev. Sherman H. Syler, Eau Claire, Pa., Brotherhood chaplain, was in charge of solemn rites, while Rev. T. V. Voorhees, Erie, Pa., paid glowing tribute to the memory of the lives and works of those who have passed on. Rev. J. Thomas Price, Deals Island, Maryland, and Rev. J. P. Stedman, Versailles, O., gave the invocation and benediction.

The choir of the First Presbyterian Church, directed by Miss Frances Harbison, Kenton, furnished the music.

Governor To Attend

Plans for the convention banquet at 6 o'clock tonight in the Hardin County armory, have been completed. Among the distinguished guests will be Gov. Vic Donahey, Senator Frank B. Willis, Senator Coleman DuPont, Delaware, and other leading state officials. Dignitaries in the Brotherhood will also occupy places of honor.

Warner Dornfield, Chicago, Albert Saul, Toledo, MacDonald Birch, Mrs. Connelsville, O., and Ade Duval are in charge of the entertainment. Albert Fink's orchestra, Kenton, directed by Lyman Goss, Jr., will play for the banquet and night shows.

Greatest interest of citizens is centering upon the performance opening at 8:15 tonight in the tented hall of magic on the Grammar school playground, when some of the greatest masters of the Black Art are to perform.

Two other shows in magic are to be given on Thursday and Friday nights. Harry Blackstone, Celon, Mich., and known the world over as "The Great Blackstone," is to close tonight's performance with his act, "You Never Can Tell." W. W. Durbin, Kenton, will close the program on Thursday night.

Two Boys in Recital At Lawrence Studio

As the second of a series of piano recitals to be given by pupils of Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, this summer at her studio, 610 E. Center-st, a group of 10 boys were heard in concert there at 7:30 o'clock last tnight.

Parents and friends of the boys, as well as other pupils, were in attendance, encouraging talks being given by a number of the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Symes, Mrs. Joseph Justice, Charles Evans, W. E. Orcutt, and M. L. Wilson.

The exceptional talent of the group of boys were well brought out in the program, which constituted a pleasing variety of numbers.

The recital opened with two duets, "Chatter" by Bachmann, and "The Skaters" by Cramm, played by Charles and Allan Justice, and the "Song of the Plowman" by Frizt Hartman, played as a solo number by Edwin Wilson. Wesley Baldauf was heard in two beautiful solos, "The Early Frog" and "The Popcorn Boy" by Helen R. Cramm and James and Oliver Hoskins in a duet, "America."

Two delightful numbers were "Merry Sprites" by Octuvia Hudson "Deep Sea" by Steinheimer, played by Allan Justice. Henry Schuler played as his solo numbers, three tone pictures, "The Little Drummer", "Little Boy Blue" and "Bye-lo, Bye-lo," by Hudson. "Sailing" by John Williams was played by Clarence Gilbert after which two beautiful duets, "Evening," by Williams and "The Turkey March" by Cramm were played by Miss Lawrence and Wesley Baldauf.

Charles Justice played "Big Bass Singer" by Rolfe and "Sing, Little Bird" by Erb, a solo numbers and Robert Knauss, "Dance of the Cossacks" by Sartorio.

A well-received number was the "Minuet in G" by Beethoven played as a piano quartet by Robert Knauss and Allan Justice, first piano, and Edwin Wilson, and Charles Justice, second piano. A duet concert arrangement of the "Arkansas Traveler" by McDonald was played by James Murray Hoskins and Robert Knauss and two solo numbers, "Pussy Willows," and "Hippety Hop" by Williams, were played by Oliver Hoskins.

"Comin' Through the Rye" arranged by Theodore Presser, was played as a duet by Henry Schuler and Miss Lawrence, and "Robin Adair" also arranged by Presser, was played by Clarence Gilbert and Miss Lawrence. "Sparkling Eyes" by Anthony was the solo number played by Edwin Wilson. In conclusion, Robert Knauss played two solos, "Souvenir" by Drdla and "Warrior's Song" by Heller, and the program was brought to a close with a song, "Good-Night Ladies, Good-Night Gentlemen" sung by a chorus composed of Wesley Baldauf, Clarence Gilbert, Oliver Hoskins, Robert Knauss, Gerald Jennings, Henry Schuler, Allan Justice, Charles Justice, and Edwin Wilson with James Murray Hoskins at the piano.

Clear, White, Smooth Hands Are Beautiful

Manicuring alone can not make the hands beautiful. The skin itself must be soft, firm, white and youthful. The easiest way to do this is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, and massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach daily into the hands and arms. It will make even stained, toil-worn hands soft, clear, smooth and white.

All dealers have Orchard White.—Adv.

Gray Haired Men and Women—Read!

Do you really want to banish your gray hair? If so, there is a quick and sure way. Just make this test—as thousands of other men and women have done.

Do not even consider using ordinary artificial colorings which are mussy and difficult to apply—yes, awkward and frequently embarrassing because they change the hair coloring completely overnight.

Just get a bottle of Kolor-Bak at this special sale price today and use it as directed. You will find that with the aid of this clean, colorless liquid, gray hair regains its natural shade gradually but surely—almost imperceptibly. A week is often sufficient to accomplish the change; and in that time Kolor-Bak not only changes the hair coloring but gives it a beautiful, lustrous softness and routs dandruff besides.

Be fair to yourself and to Kolor-Bak. Give it a trial. No sample of hair necessary when purchasing. The same bottle is for any gray hair. Try it—at our risk. If desired results do not appear, your money will be returned. Guarantee in each package.

Do you feel like going back to bed?

AFTER YOU have dressed your children, fed them, and sent them off to school, do you feel like going back to bed? Do you shrink from your daily task of dish-washing and house-cleaning? Are you tired? Discouraged?

Many women have found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for that tired feeling. It builds up the appetite. It induces natural sleep. Read what these two women say about it.

GAINED 18 POUNDS

Cleveland, Ohio:—After having my first baby I lost weight no matter what I did. I went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble. Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Remember this package. None genuine without the signature of Lydia E. Pinkham.

NERVOUS SPELLS GONE

St. Paul, Minn.:—I used to get nervous spells that would last a couple of days and were so bad that I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight. One day a little booklet was left on my porch and I read it through. I found a case similar to mine. I bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have had fine results. Now housekeeping doesn't tire me. Mrs. Jack Lorbetter, 704 Dellwood Place, St. Paul, Minnesota.

hold his peace, but he turned away, unable to look further crazed misery in hers; wondering that precluded her realiz- situation—the peculiar tangle trade her to sit on her tribal as a woman and which, if she the guise of a man, necessitated ing fewer. She had not it—that was evident to He could not, and feel that he his manhood, bring it to No, it was his to make the that she might go forward to the glory and power that was her due.

After a time Benna went back to her place beyond the fire and spoke no further words. When the little blaze died down and threatened to go out she moved off from him and sought her sleeping place, removed by a dozen yards from his own. In complete silence she lay down. Larry, dumb misery wracking his heart, sought his own sleeping place and lay far into the night wrestling with the urge that was in him to claim that which this girl offered; to take her as his own, for all time.

Once or twice, he fancied—he could not be sure—he caught the sound of a stifled sob. Dawn found him haggard of eyes and sick of soul. Benna, too, seemed not to have slept, and there was a redness about her lids that suggested much weeping, weeping that had perhaps drained to the bitter dregs the fountain of her tears. Yet, as they observed the morning prayer and ate their frugal meal, neither spoke of that which each knew was in the other's heart and mind. Casually, seeing the girl had finished her meal and seemed to await his command, Larry said:

"We travel through a forest this day, and it is in my mind that ere we pause for the night we shall have found a kafa; perhaps even a larger village."

And she answered in kind after which they resumed their journey. But the cheer was gone from the day and for the most part they strode onward in silence. They were still silent when, late in the afternoon, they discerned a little way ahead a low, white wall. The road they were on led directly toward an arched gateway in the wall and Larry sensed that it was evidently a part of the program that they enter the place. But the gate was closed tightly, as though intrusion from the outside world was not desired.

There were no signs of life visible and they reached the gate without having seen even an aïdi, or slave soldier. Pausing when the gate refused to yield to the pressure of his arms, Larry turned to his companion.

"One would think the place forsaken even of Allah. I wonder where we are?"

Just then the deep reverberating tones of a bell crashed through the stillness of the place, tolling briefly, with staccato-like clamoring, then was silent. The girl who had been staring intently at the archway pointed suddenly.

"See," she said, "we are at the Gate of the Burning."

He followed with his eyes the direction indicated by her hand and saw, carved in the keystone of the arch, three words:

"Bab el Mahroog"

Translated it read, "The Gate of the Burning."

Vividly he recalled the words of Bon Hamara, that at the Gate of the Burning there would be someone who watched and who waited to help. But, judging from the silence of the place, he did not seem likely to pass through the gate.

The bell beyond the wall tolled again, its quick clamor swelling briefly, then dying to silence, as before. Lustily, he hammered on the gate, then heard a mocking voice:

"Has the wizard lost his powers that he cannot open so simple a thing as a gate that is unguarded?"

He looked up and saw an evil visage peering down at him from the wall. He had only a fleeting glimpse of the face before it disappeared, yet it was such a satanic, forbidding countenance that it sent a momentary chill down his spine. Involuntarily he stepped back a pace.

His eyes went back to the gate and he saw where a lock might have been a tiny aperture. Peering through this he discerned some sort of mechanism inside that no doubt held the portal shut. He resolved on the instant to answer the challenge of the man on the wall and his hand went to his burnouse.

When he came out it held one of the little cubes he had been so careful about that first night in Morocco in Omar ben Mohadi's house where he had changed to Moorish garments. Now he held a match. The cube was a piece of dynamite with a fuse of five or six inches.

He inserted the explosive in the aperture and struck the match, the while Benna stood aside silently watching. She had implicit faith in his powers to open the gate, concealing of no obstacle which could halt him, once he made up his mind to overcome it. She thrilled yet when she thought of that glorious light he had made out there on el Dhor, then she started as a sharp quick bark roared through the silence and a gaping hole appeared in the gate.

Calmly, now, Larry thrust his shoulder against the gate and shoved. As it swung wide he stepped through with Benna behind him. He saw armed men moving forward, lances and long swords in their hands. None gave his automatic added power in case it became necessary to use it.

A kaid el mia who commanded the approaching soldiers strode up and glared at him fiercely exclaiming in a loud voice:

"What manner of wizard are you that you bring down the thunder and the lightning from the sky to shatter our gates? Why did you not summon the gateman, that you might have entered without wrecking the portal?

And now, to Larry's supreme astonishment, the kaid did a strange thing. His face was turned away from the others who were behind him, and only Larry and Benna could see it, his left eyelid fluttered violently then drooped in a prolonged and deliberate wink! At the same time a quick, reassuring smile shot across his bearded face!

"One will be watching, ready to aid—" Larry found Ben Hamara's words ringing like an echo in his ears.

"I did send a summons and for my pains one with the face of the devil did lean from the wall and mock me because I, a wizard, could not walk through an unguarded gate without assistance."

At this the kaid's face was perturbed briefly, then he winked again, quickly, and roared:

"Well, your last summons brought action, for the head kaid has ordered that it cost you your liberty. I am sent to take you to the kashbah and turn you over to the assassins, the gorgis. Come and make haste."

The aid spoke to his men and they fell in around Larry and the girl, forming an escort. Rapidly they moved off through the walled village, nor paused until they came to a low, powerfully built mountain fortress above which a green, white and scarlet flag was flying—the flag of the Marabout Group! He wondered swiftly if this was the headquarters of the group, but sensed that it could not be, since by no manner of imagination could this place be likened to a temple.

At the fortress another wall halted them, but a word from the kaid to the aschass resulted in a wide gate swinging open and they marched inside to a paved court where soldiers stood or leaned, lances resting, swords hanging carelessly. It appeared to Larry that here was a gathering of fighting men, assembled for a purpose, because there was nothing apparent in all the countryside to warrant such a display of force in this almost unknown and wholly obscure place. He thought briefly that here was a band bound for the same destination as himself, going at the behest of the marabouts, and destined to be in the ranks of those who would move against Spain if the plan for war were carried out.

Through a high, wide door they were ushered, then down a flight of stairs and into a small room whose only light came from a solitary small barred window on a level with the surface of the earth outside. The heavy door banged behind them, then all was silence.

Larry, fingering his automatic and recalling briefly that he had about a dozen of his dynamite cubes left, wondered if he would be called on soon to use either of these weapons. He saw Benna drop wearily onto the only pile of cushions in the room, and look at him calmly. He forced a smile.

"Well, it seems that we are cornered temporarily, at any rate. It is in my mind that it were better if we had passed up this place, else I had fought it out with the guards at the gate."

"I know not which would have been best," she answered, a little dully, "for it has been in my mind for days now that nothing much matters with me."

He understood her and his heart surged with a sudden revival of the great love for her that was flooding his whole being. She noticed that he remained standing, and spoke again.

"Is it that you hate me so much you refuse even to sit beside me?" No longer did she call him Lajos, since a groom he shook his head.

"It is not that, Lajos, but [illegible] be still today, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ST. MARY'S recreational ball outfit called a sudden halt to an Epworth Senior rally last night when it pulled a triple play, something that is seldom seen in "kittenball".

With a runner on first and second, the Epworth batter smacked a hot liner to McFarland, St. Mary's third baseman. Making a neat pick-up, McFarland touched third base, and threw to first, catching the batter. With two out Paulus socked the ball to Fabian, who caught the only other runner playing too far off second base.

St. Mary's won the game, although Roy Rice only allowed two hits.

EPWORTH NO. 1, the championship aggregation of a year ago, is not going so hot this year. It lost its second place last night when the Presbyterians played rings around it and won 4 to 2.

The Presbyterians played heads-up ball and were given credit for their best game so far this season. Verburg allowed nine scattered hits, McAninch shined at shortstop, and Newt Cunningham proved himself one of the best fielders in the city when he covered the Presbyterian outfield single handed for three innings without an error.

The Presbyterians displayed one of the best brands of recreational ball we have seen this season and, on the other hand, the Epworth team needs something to stop that ever-growing list of errors. It made seven last night.

UNITED BRETHREN are staging a great come-back after losing two games at the start of the season. They won again last night and are settled in third place as a result. Zuspan was on the mound again and won his fourth consecutive game, three for the Brethren and one for Isaly, during the last seven days.

THE ever-threatening Lee-st Presbyterians are now in a tie for second place with the Trinity Baptists and are expecting to be in a deadlock with the Lutherans soon, if all rumors come true.

They have yet to meet the Lutherans in the first round of games and have met only one defeat so far, taking that from the Trinity Baptists. According to all statistics, the Lutherans, having defeated the Trinity Baptists, should have little trouble with the Lee-st boys but—well, time will tell.

YOUNGEST TO QUALIFY

James Lupton McAvity, aged 18, who is to be a member of the Canadian rifle team at the Bisley tournament this year, is the youngest Canadian to have qualified for this honor in 50 years.

YANKS DEFEAT WHITE SOX IN FIRST CONTEST

Babe and Lou Sock Home Runs as Thomas Goes Down

NEW YORK, June 8—The New York Yankees were firmly intrenched in first place today with a lead of two games as a result of some terrific home run hitting yesterday in the first game of the "crucial" series with the Chicago White Sox. The score was 4 to 1 and four of the five runs were homers, Babe Ruth getting his 18th and Lou Gehrig his 14th and Clancy and Collins also hitting for the circuit.

Alphonse Thomas, sensational young White Sox hurler, came to town leading the league in pitching and boasting a winning streak of five straight, but he has never beaten the Yankees and the jinx reasserted itself. During a lapse of less than two minutes, in which Ruth and Gehrig hit successive homers, the game went up the spout.

Still Ahead

Ruth is now four days and three games ahead of his 1921 record.

Pat Clancy, who had gotten five consecutive hits the day before, got three more before he was stopped, but his mates could do nothing with Waite Hoyt, the New York pitcher.

Andy High alloped two homers as the sprightly Braves beat the Cardinals, 12 to 5. The beaneaters knocked Jimmy Ring out of the picture.

Hornsby and Terry hit homers but the bases were bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard at the time and the Giants lost a 9 to 6 slugfest to the Pirates. It was Lee Meadows' eighth victory of the season.

Pitchers were knocked out of the box with great abandon as the Cubs took a see-saw contest from Brooklyn, 7 to 6.

Reds Win

The Reds stretched their great winning streak to three games as Jakie May subdued the Phillies, 5 to 1.

A four run rally by Detroit in the ninth, featured by Gehringer's homer with two on, just fell short and the Tigers lost to the Red Sox, 6 to 5.

The Browns got 19 hits, including a blow which pitcher Milt Gaston landed on a spectator's jaw for "riding" him, but lost to the Athletics 11 to 9. The police put Gaston out and five Philadelphia pitchers finally succeeded in putting the Browns out.

Washington got off to a six run lead against Cleveland but barely staggered to the wire with a 10 to 8 victory.

CLEVELAND REMAINS

Of the four cities that comprised the Grand Circuit when first organized in 1875—Cleveland, Buffalo, Utica and Springfield—the only one still remaining in the "big line" is Cleveland. Trotting meetings under Grand Circuit auspices have been given in Cleveland each year since the start except in 1908.

Report Is "All Wrong", Erie Office Trims Legion

THE news that the American Legion had emerged from the cellar of the Association by stepping all over the Erie Office in a slugfest at Central Junior High Monday night was "all wrong," according to the latest report.

The score of 18 to 6 chalked up in the contest was correct but the names on the end of each number were switched in an account of the game in these columns last night.

The Erie Office walloped the American Legion, 18 to 6, and as a result are tied for second place with the Howitzers and Erie Switchmen. And, the Legion has lost its third contest.

Here's a box score of the game, home runs and all:

SIDNEY R. BOYD IS NAMED ASHLAND COACH

Assistant Athletic Director Succeeds Harry J. Barnhart Next Fall

Sidney R. Boyd has been named athletic director of Ashland High School, succeding Harry J. Barnhart, who goes to Findlay College this fall, it was announced today. Boyd was assistant director and coach last year at Ashland.

Boyd holds eight Muskingum College varsity letters and formerly coached at Barnesville and Ada. Roscoe K. Miller of Apple Creek, will become assistant.

Barnhart was coach of the Ashland high school athletic teams for eight years.

Roscoe Rank Allows Only Three Hits; Presbyterians No. 1 Defeats Epworth No. 1

St. Mary's Triumhps Over Epworth Seniors, Although Roy Rice Allows Only Two Hits; Wesley Alone in First Place, Calvary Second

"THE bigger they are the harder they fall."

That's the motto of Roscoe Rank who is rapidly becoming famous as the greatest pitcher in the Sunday School leagues as well as the Industrial loop.

Roscoe was in the height of his glory last night when he let down the hard-hitting players of the league-leading Calvary No. 1 nine with three hits, while his teammates, the Central Christians, collected nine hits for seven runs. The final score was 7 to 3.

Wesley Win

And while Calvary No. 1 was falling by the wayside, Wesley M. E. kept tearing along at its usual terrific pace and swamped Forest Lawn, 8 to 2. As a result Wesley is in full possession of first place in the first Sunday School league and Calvary No. 1 is lucky to have a lone hold on second.

Epworth No. 1, two weeks ago tied with the leaders of the league with no defeats, has slumped into a tie for third place, taking its second trimming last night from the Presbyterians. The score was 4 to 2.

And last, but not least, the sliding Epworth Seniors, took another lickins when the St. Mary's boys stepped on them with a 2 to 0 count. St. Mary's, Epworth No. 1, and Central Christians are in a deadlock for third place.

About Central

The Central Christians are the up-and-coming boys of the first Church League. They lost two games before they knew what it was all about but now they're stepping out. They out-played Calvary in every department of the game while the league-leaders tried their best to hit the puzzling deliveries of Roscoe Rank.

The Christians had the game won 7 to 0 until the last of the fifth when Calvary scored its first run. In the last of the seventh, Calvary again staged a rally but it didn't last long. Gruber was the losing pitcher.

The Presbyterians pulled the surprise of the season when they trounced John Clark's Epworth No. 1 crew, 4 to 2, on the Fairfield diamond. The Presbys played almost air-tight ball behind the excellent pitching of Verberg, who, although allowing nine hits, kept them scattered over the seven innings. The Presbyterians played with only seven men for two innings and with eight during the remainder of the contest.

Errors were again responsible for the defeat of Epworth, seven being chalked up against that team. Burson allowed only eight hits but they counted for four runs when coupled with the errors. The splendid work of Dick McAninch at shortstop was largely responsible for the Presbyterian victory.

While defeating the Epworth Seniors, St. Mary's executed a triple play, one of the few ever seen in Marion recreational ball. McFarland, Paulus and Fabian took part in the performance. Frericks pitched for St. Mary's, allowing only three hits. Merkle was responsible for the only two hits made by St. Mary's. Rice did the mound work for the Seniors, hurling his best game this season.

Wesley M. E. didn't even exert itself to win its fifth game of the season from Forest Lawn. The score was 8 to 2. Bush pitched for Wesley and Winters was on the mound for Forest Lawn.

Lutherans Nose Out Trinity Baptists; Lead League

Score Winning Tally In Last of Seventh; Lee-St Presbyterians Again Win

Another No. 2 Triumphs Over Calvary No. 2 in Battle To Avoid Cellar Position; United Brethren Win Another, Zuspan Pitching

...ed against them, the "never-say-die" Emanuel Lutherans last night staged a rally in the last two innings and won the greatest game of the season, over the Trinity Baptists, a game that may have a bearing on the championship of the Sunday School League.

The Baptists went down in that inning and thereby automatically slipped into second-place tie with the Presbyterians, leaving the Lutherans in sole possession of the top rung of the Second Church League ladder.

The Presbyterians are in second position as a result of a win over the Methodists new last night. The score was 7 to 2.

United Brethren Win

The United Brethren rank third place for their third consecutive victory recorded last night when they defeated Calvary No. 2 by a score of 6 to 5 in the last of the seventh. Calvary No. 2 has finally emerged from the cellar. It swamped the Epworth No. 2 outfit to the tune of 10 to 0 last night. Calvary No. 2 being the victim.

The Emanuel Lutheran victory was decidedly a surprise to be one of the leading contenders for the championship honors as the season is now nearing the end. The score was 6 to 4 in favor of the Lutherans. The game came to but in the ninth inning but when they again took the field they failed to count should they do so in the last of the seventh. Jones and Arkinson on base, Zuspan crashed through with the single that won the game.

Niemeyer Pitching

Niemeyer was on the mound for the winners while Jones did the pitching for the Baptists. Both hurled one of the best games of the year, with Niemeyer getting just a little the best of Jonesy.

The United Brethern, with Zuspan pitching, crashed through with another last-minute victory when the mounds man won his own game in the seventh by slugging out a hit with a couple of men on the sacks. The victims were Presbyterians No 2.

The Brethern have won their last three games and have stepped into full possession of third place as a result.

Lee-st Boys Triumph

The Lee-st Presbyterians also won their third consecutive contest last night when they romped over the First Reforms with a 4 to 2 count. They are in second place with the Baptists. E. Burke did the pitching for the winners while Williams was on the slab for First Reformed.

Epworth No 2 won the battle between the two tail-enders when they slammed the ball all over the lot to defeat Calvary No 2 10 to 0. They scored five in the third inning on a the fourth and put the game on ice for sure in the sixth when four more men crossed the plate.

Shults pitched for Lawyers and Cline did the mound work for the losers.

OLD GAME FAVORITE

"Jeu de quilles," an old Basque game bearing a resemblance to lawn bowling, has suddenly become a craze in Paris. Although for centuries it has been played in every village in the French Pyrenees it has never been seen "another whole until its appearance in Paris a few months ago. The game requires little skill and is easily learned and as there is plenty of action it never fails to afford abundant amusement for the spectators.

LEAGUE CONTESTS ON SHOVEL DIAMONDS

Welders, Electricians and Office Winners Monday Night

The Office and Electricians Foundry and Apprentices and Tools and Orders are scheduled to meet each other tonight on the three Shovel diamonds in the American League games of the company.

Welders, Electricians and Office were winners in the National League games Monday night. Orders, Foundry and Machinists were the respective victims.

The Welders with Clark on the mound had little difficulty in knocking off the Orders, 8 to 3. Cook pitched for the losers.

Mathus and Uebenberg were hot rivals for the Electricians as they defeated the Foundrymen 6 to 5. Converse and Andrews were the losing battery.

Office defeated the Machinists 2 to 1, Peercide doing the pitching. Brapes was in the box for the Machinists.

HARVARD'S HOPES

Harvard has high hopes of ending Yale's 40 year supremacy in rowing when the crews of the two universities meet for their annual struggle at New London on June 24. The dope seems to favor the Crimson crew. Yale has been beaten this year by Princeton and it has also been outrowed by Massachusetts Tech which two weeks later went down to defeat in a race with Harvard.

GREAT GAME

One of the greatest games in the early history of baseball was played in St. Louis one fifty years ago on May 1, 1877. The contesting teams were the St. Louis Browns and the Syracuse Stars. The game went 35 innings and when it was called on account of darkness not a run had been scored on either side.

Hagen and British Delegation Will "Try To Get Along" With Each Other In National Open Meet

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK June 8.—It was the general understanding today that Walter Hagen and the visiting British delegation will contrive to beat up bravely without too much of each other's society during the national open championship next week following a general disagreement at the Ryder Cup matches at Worcester. The British versus American series is popularly supposed to engender international good feeling but the story is that it ended with several mashie niblicks being sunk from off the green and none from the hook only because the boys managed to restrain themselves.

According to information available today, the series resulted in a throwback to the Hagen-Mitchell controversy of the last British golf season, it being claimed on that occasion that Hagen purposely was late in arriving for the match in order to discompose Abe Mitchell as he was leaving for the country. Hagen aired a few views on the subject of British golf just by way of pouring oil on the troubled flames.

However, everything was supposed to be serene again when the professionals of both countries convened at Worcester for the international team matches and then the fun began.

Ted Ray the British captain announced his line-up at an early moment. Hagen was pleased to defer his decision and after he had reached it, wanted to make a few alterations. The British objected and a few harsh syllables were exchanged on the subject of sportsmanship. Hagen finally let the foursome arrangement go as read, but he still was a man with plenty of ideas and tendency to use some of them.

Changes Made

Al Watrous had declared himself out of the series because of an injured finger and Al Espinosa changed his mind, so Hagen changed his team. Espinosa changed his clothes and Ray changed his disposition.

The latter felt that somebody had slipped over when it subtlety known as a fast one on him now, didn't hesitate to use international fellowship was having a hell of a time calm finally prevailed once more and the match went on.

However normal recriminations seemed to be the vogue for after their defeat the Britons were openly critical of what the normal Hagen's haggle of practice at the simplest tests. They were surprised that Bob Macdonald was named to the No 2 post instead of Joe Turnesa or John Golden and rather pointedly intimated that Hagen had come out to bring his strongest men against the weakest of the British.

Another Angle

It apparently didn't occur to them that if Hagen had done this he must a strong wind blowing and we had a prairies fire in no time, so we skun out, because the wind was blowing it right toward a house and barn. We all hid under the stink factory all day, so if any policemen were looking for us they got fooled. I thought I might get arrested when I got home, but I didn't.

I went to bed early. Dogs are lucky, they do not have pockets to carry matches in.

"Matty, what are you doing now? Not getting ready to dig under, are you?"

Matty stopped long enough to nod his head, and as he had no neck at all his whole fat body wiggled in assent.

"Guessed right the first time," chuckled he. "The daylight is beginning to make me dizzy, and now that I have succeeded in doing just exactly what I came to the surface for I am going back under ground. How would you like to come under the ground with me?"

"How would I like to? Id' love it!" Peter clapped his hands. Then he noticed that the Mole had crawled up close to him and seemed to be staring up at him with his almost sightless eyes.

"But you are too big, Boy," said he. "Oh, I am so disappointed. I would have made quite a name for myself by bringing such a strange guest into the Molehill. Tch, tch, tch, what a pity."

"Don't worry about that, Mole," laughed the boy. Then he said the magic words, "Watch! Listen!" In the twinkling of an eye he was no larger than his furry friend.

"Now I am small enough to go anywhere that you can. Lead on, Matty," cried he.

ANOTHER MARION LADY BENEFITED BY NEW KONJOLA

Advanced Medicine Ended Her Stomach Trouble and Neuritis Pains

It was predicted three weeks ago that this celebrated new Konjola compound would bring amazing relief to people of Marion who were suffering health troubles. Already a great stream of reports has come to the Konjola Man at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sams), 121 South Main Street, this city, where he is explaining this remarkable remedy to large crowds. The signed statements are coming from men and women of Marion telling how the medicine ended various forms of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders and rheumatic or neuritis troubles. Many have offered photographs for publication, showing new health that actually came from the use of this medicine. Just a few days ago, Mrs. E. Downs, well known Marion lady, living at 714 Wood Street, this city, made the following statement:

MRS. E. DOWNS

"Konjola has ended a case of stomach trouble that I had suffered for years," said Mrs. Downs, "and this medicine also banished the neuritis pains I had.

"I suffered from most of the worst forms of stomach trouble. What little I managed to eat felt like a sharp, solid rock gouging around in my stomach. Gas bloating seemed to hurt my heart, causing indigestion pains, cramps, and shortness of breath. A hot, strangling liquid would rush into my throat. Then about a year ago I was affected with neuritis. The pains centered in my limbs, so that I was always limping when I walked, and sometimes I couldn't get around at all. It was usually after midnight before I could sleep, and then only in short spells of less than an hour.

"I had come to believe nothing would help me, and when the Konjola Man reached Marion I decided to try this medicine, but I had no idea it would completely end all of my miseries. The second day I noticed a difference. I continued with Konjola and I believe today I am the happiest woman in the city. I don't have a single ache or pain anywhere in my body. The other day I ate certain foods I hadn't dared to touch in years. I wanted to test my stomach, and everything digested fine. I am entirely free of all the miseries I had with my stomach. I sleep good at nights and notice a big difference in the way I feel each morning.

"I will be glad to tell anyone personally about the work of Konjola, and gladly indorse such a medicine."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sams), 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.—Adv.

TWO IN FARM ROBBERY CASES ARE SENTENCED

Lester Bird Given Three Years at Penitentiary; Paul Bird to Reformatory

Final disposition of the series of Marion County farm robbery cases was made today when Judge George B. Scofield passed sentence on Lester and Paul Bird, who pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny in connection with the farm thefts.

Lester Bird was given three years in the Ohio Penitentiary and Paul Bird was given a term of three years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield.

Raymond Needles, who entered a plea of guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons, was given an indeterminate sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory.

The three men were taken to those institutions today by deputies from the office of Sheriff James A. Deal.

Seeks Divorce

Charging wilful absence for a period of more than three years Harry R. Adams has filed suit for divorce from Alice Louise Adams. They were married Jan. 30, 1924, the petition sets forth.

Sue for $717.50

Suit to collect $717.50, claimed due as a commission on the sale of a power shovel, has been filed in Marion County Common Pleas Court by Thomas H. Moriarty and Howard Moriarty, brothers against the Osgood Co. Interest on the amount sought dating from Nov. 27, 1925, also is asked.

Bills Allowed

Settlement of bills of the Marion County Home was ordered yesterday by the board of county commissioners followwng the regular monthly allowance.

Answer Filed

Answer of Gertrude Hickman, defendant in a partition action brought in Marion County Common Pleas Court has been placed on file.

Seeks Court Order

Authority to negotiate a loan of $2,100 and execute a mortgage for that amount on the church property as security is sought in a petition filed in Marion County Common Pleas court in behalf of Fite Memorial Baptist Church. It is claimed in the petition that there is due the sums of $400 on a mortgage and $700 on notes and that it has been found necessary to extend the time of payments.

600 THRESHERMEN ARE GUESTS AT HUBER PLANT

Four States Represented at Meeting of Ohio Brotherhood

It was estimated today by officials of the Huber Manufacturing Co. that at least 600 owners and operators of threshing machines from Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and all parts of Ohio were visitors at the local plant yesterday during the meeting of the Ohio Brotherhood of Threshermen.

The men began to assemble early yesterday and spent the morning sightseeing about the factory. Following luncheon served at the plant, they were entertained by Hugh Diamond of Galion, and were then addressed by John P. Parker, representative of the "American Thresherman." Mr. Parker spoke on "Organization."

George Durbin, secretary of the organization, also gave a brief address, following a talk by A. W. Newby of the Huber Co. Music for the occasion was furnished by means of an orthophonic victrola, donated for use by Wiant's Book Store.

Due to the large number of visitors from neighboring states, no organization meeting of the Ohio Brotherhood of Threshermen was held yesterday afternoon. The business session was open to all and problems common to all were discussed.

John M. Miller and John Howard of the Huber Co. were in charge of the meeting.

ATTENDS CANTON MEET

OILS HAVE INNING ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

List Moves Forward as Loan Rate Drops to Four Per Cent

New York, June 8— A decline in call money to 4 percent revived the fast waning bullish sentiment in the stock market today, and, after a series of spasmodic advances by the specialty stocks, the whole list moved forward, with oil stocks enjoying the best market movement in a month or more.

The 4 per ment call loan rate appeared to remove apprehensions as to the probable tightening up of the sources of speculative credit, and the "putting up of the money bars" by bg bankers, under the direction of the federal reserve board and 6e reserve bank officials. Bulls in the stock market have persistently maintained that the current volume of speculative loans is not unduly high, and the action of the money market today appeared to substantiate their position.

Further recession in the demand for steel was noted in the weekly survey of The Iron Age. Pig iron output of the steel corporation was reported at 81 per cent. of capacity, a decline of 7 per cent. in a week, while the independents are working at about 76 per cent. of capacity. Taking the figures as a whole, The Iron Age estimates that steel ingot production for the first half of 1927 will be equal to a high record of the first half of last year.

Industrial and business reports from other departments of activity were unchanged. Automotive experts forecast a probable scaling down of the number of cars sold this year, as compared to 1926. The tire and rubber companies announced new price cuts in the second grade of tires, in order to conform with department store prices. On the other hand, high grade truck tire prices were advanced.

Chrysler's rapid advance of the year's high price of 51 1-2 featured the motor stock group. Buying of the stock was attributed to Detroit and Chicago houses in anticipation of an extra cash or stock dividend, based on the recent increase in the net earnings of the company and its large distribution of cars. General Motors was firm, but inactive.

HOLD UP SENTENCE AWAITING COURT RULING

Appellate Tribunal Will Hear Longfellow's Petition in Error

Suspension of the execution of the penitentiary sentence passed on William "Shorty" Longfellow, convicted leader and fence of Marion County's farm robbery gang, until the petition in error is heard and a decision reached, has been ordered by the third appellate court, Lima.

A journal entry with the decision of the appeals court was received here today by Harley E. Koons, clerk of the Marion County common pleas court.

Longfellow's bond has been fixed at $5,000. He was sentenced to not less than five years and not more than seven years in Ohio Penitentiary by Judge George R. Scofield and is being held in County Jail until a decision is reached in the court of appeals.

YOUNG AVIATOR BECOMES IDOL OF EVERY MAN

Eats with Crew and Has Run of Ship; Inspects Scout Planes

On Board U S. Cruiser Memphis, June 8.—(By Radio to I. N. S.)—Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh is in the home-stretch of his homeward journey today. The Memphis has encountered fine weather throughout the voyage from Cherbourg and has made excellent time, averaging 23 knots an hour. If the present schedule is maintained the cruiser should enter Chesapeake Bay Saturday morning.

Lindbergh has the run of the ship and is having the time of his life. He is enjoying every minute of the voyage and is a popular young idol with every man on board from the commander down to the humblest Jackie.

Evidence of his popularity with the crew was shown by the keen rivalry among the men as to which table should have the honor of his presence when it became known that he wanted to eat with the crew.

Inspects Ship, Planes

Lindbergh has inspected the ship and especially the two scout planes on board. He climbed into the cockpit of one of them and the smile of contentment upon his face showed his pleasure over getting once more in contact with an airplane.

The young airman has spent much time with Vice Admiral Burrage discussing the possibility of regular transoceanic airplane service. Lindbergh was particularly anxious to get the vice admiral's views upon the feasibility of establishing commercial air bases at sea so that airplanes could refuel or take refuge if forced down by mechanical trouble, storms or exhaustion of fuel.

Heart Is in Flying

It is evident from Lindbergh's whole conversation that all his heart is in his life work—aviation. He is always studying his subject and seeking a fresh viewpoint upon the problems of flying.

Lindbergh refuses to discuss his future plans, but whatever they are they will deal with flying. For a week or two after his arrival his time will be taken up completely receiving honors from the American people. When the ovations and fetes are over he will be ready to settle down to work.

Even out in the Atlantic there are evidences of the universal interest in the daring young flier. The steamship Bremen changed her course so that she could come within 1,000 feet of the Memphis to give the passengers a view of Lindbergh. The youthful aviator was out upon the main deck when the Bremen passed and saluted him.

CITY SERVICE DEPARTMENT STARTS MARKING STREETS

Work of marking the streets for automobile parking was started by employes of the city service department this morning. State-st at the intersection of Church, was selected as the starting place for marking. The same general system with the same degree of parking angles will be used this year as last, Superintendent of Streets William Honaker, said this morning.

HERRIGLE RELEASED ON POSSESSION CHARGE

William Herrigle arrested late Saturday night with Charles Bowers, and held on a charge of illegal possession of liquor was dismissed by Municipal Judge W. J. Martin, yesterday afternoon when a third member of the party testified that Herrigle had bought no liquor, carried no bottles and threw none down when police arrived. Bowers, who was held on a charge of selling and whose hearing was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, will have his hearing late this afternoon.

FEEDS DOG WELL BEFORE COMMITTING SUICIDE

John Henry Cutler, 43, Near Richwood, Takes Life with Gun

Richwood, June 8—John Henry Cutler, 43, unmarried and a farmer of five miles south of here yesterday noon tied his dog to his bed and placed food sufficient for three days within reach. He then retired to his kitchen where he drank a quantity of chloroform and made his act doubly certain with a 22 caliber bullet fired directly into his temple.

Arthur Taylor, a neighbor, and his son, visiting the farm to plant potatoes found the body a short time later. Coroner Davies of Delaware County declared death was suicidal and the result of a self-inflicted bullet.

A note reading, "Come on in, I am at home" had been placed in a window of the house. Funeral instructions were outlined in another message left on the kitchen stove.

Relatives of Cutler are without theories for the suicide motive.

John Henry Cutler was born Aug 8, 1883. He was the son of Morgan and Mary Jane Cutler. Surviving are his mother, living at the County Home, and two sisters, Mrs Edward Miley, Waldo, and Mrs. Calvin Babbs, Richwood.

Funeral services will be held from the Essex M. P. church at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. Clyde Parish in charge. Burial will be made in Price Cemetery with S. R. Sanders in charge.

PERSONAL TAX SUIT IS STARTED IN COURT

Burt Clayton Defendant in Action Brought by Treasurer Messenger

Burt Clayton of this city has been ordered to appear in municipal court at 2 o'clock on June 14 to defend himself in a personal tax suit for $11.31. Action to collect was started in municipal court yesterday by County Treasurer James Messenger.

Clayton, according to the petition, has refused absolutely to pay the $11.31 in spite of the fact that he himself listed the automobile upon which the taxes are due, in 1925. According to county officials, all efforts to collect the money has met with distinct objection. Deputy County Treasurer Shelton, said this morning, that court action to collect would be made in every case where the payment of personal taxes were refused.

BRUSH IS BOUND OVER TO COUNTY GRAND JURY

Youthful Sailorboy Pleads Guilty to Auto Stealing Before Judge Martin

George Brush, sailorboy and alleged automobile thief, who was arrested at Bellevue Monday and brought back here to answer to a charge of having stolen an Oldsmobile belonging to Winston Smith of this city on Saturday night, was bound over to the grand jury by Judge Martin in municipal court yesterday afternoon when he pleaded guilty to a charge of automobile stealing. His bond was fixed at $1,500.

When first arrested Brush told the police he was 17 years of age, a search of his papers, however, brought to the light the fact that his mother had sworn to a statement that he was 18 when he enlisted in the navy.

"Linen Damask Now the Smart Criterion" says Vogue.

The bride to be in assembling her new linens does well to concentrate the majority of her table linens upon fine linen damask, if she wishes to follow the new trend of the mode.

This change to fine Damask in the character of table linens is one of the most important developments that the bride with an eye for the authentic new trends should note. Unquestionably, the slogan in smart table equipment is "back to fine linen." Linen damask has always been regarded as a classic.

What Is Linen Damask?

Answer: Linen Damask is a smooth, lustrous leathery cloth with a more or less elaborately woven pattern. The ground cloth is made with a satin weave and the pattern is woven through by means of a Jacquard machine. Damasks are classified as single or double damask according to the nature of the ground weave, the former being made with what is known as a five leaf satin weave and the latter with an eight leaf satin weave. They are used chiefly for table cloths and napkins.

FREE BIBLE LECTURE

SUBJECT

"Things the Clergy Never Tell"

The most momentous events of earth's history is the near establishment of God's kingdom among men; but, strange to say, this dominating theme of the Bible has been entirely neglected by the clergy. Every one of the inspired writers testified concerning a time of everlasting happiness for the human race. Jesus and his apostles preached that this gospel or blessing is for the vast majority; not a message of woe for all except a few.

Where is the rational human being who has not often wished that things were different—who does not long for peace, happiness, freedom from pain and sorrow?
